Westchester Mother Of Three 19th Fatal

A Westchester mother of three became Ulster County's 19th traffic fatality of the year when she was killed in a one-car crash about 9:55 p. m. Saturday on the Blue Mountain Road about a half-mile north of Route 212 in the Town of Saugerties.

Virginia C. Eggleston, 45, of 1 Elm Street, Tuckahoe, was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner Henry Hartley, who gave a verdict of death due to a fractured skull. She was one of 29 persons who lost their lives in accidents over the weekend.

State Police at the Lake Katrine substation said she was driving north on the Blue Mountain Road when her car failed to negotiate a curve, left the east side of the road and struck a tree head-on. Troopers W. E. Weidmann and Thomas Scaries investigated.

Nine Are Injured

Nine persons were injured in three other traffic accidents investigated by State Police.

Four were hurt in a one-car accident about 2:55 a. m. today on the Buttermilk Falls Road in the Town of Catskill.

Troopers at Leeds substation said Margaret Carney, of Leeds, was driving north on Buttermilk Falls Road on a downgrade curve. She said she was blinded by the high beam headlight of an oncoming car, causing her to lose control of her vehicle, which struck a tree.

She suffered nose cuts, knee injuries and fractured ribs. Her husband, Eugene J. Carney, suffered severe facial cuts, right knee cuts, chest injury and rib fractures. The couple was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Other passengers in the vehicle, treated at the hospital and released, included Jean Carney, 16, also of Leeds, right leg cuts, and Alfred Horvach, 16, of Montclair, Calif., scalp cuts.

Mishap Near Ellenville

A driver and his passenger were injured in a one-car mishap Sunday on the Metacomb Rd. about three miles west of Rt. 209 near Ellenville.

Troopers said Stuart Moss, 16, of 16 East 59th Street, the driver, suffered face cuts. Larry Klein, of Brooklyn, his passenger, suffered forehead cuts. Three persons were injured in a collision between a car and truck about 7:25 p. m. Saturday on the Ulster Heights Rd., also near Ellenville.

Red Hook Lumber Co. Destroyed $500,000 Loss

Fire early yesterday destroyed the Sheffer Lumber Company in Red Hook with an estimated loss of $500,000.

Eleven fire companies from the area fought to bring the blaze under control. Firemen from Columbia County, assisted by northern Dutchess County firemen responded to the call.

The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Fire Chief Thomas Moore of Red Hook said the blaze, which was discovered about 12:30 a. m., engulfed the main building of the lumber company. The fire could be seen from a long distance and was visible from Kingston.

An estimated 900 tons of coal and three trucks were also lost in the blaze.

The fire was brought under control at 3:30 a. m. but firemen remained at the scene several hours later to prevent any rekindling in the smoldering ruins.

MAIL TRUCK OVERTURNED—Troopers Robert Mackey and John Kohland, Kingston substation, survey damage after tractor trailer hauling mail into Kingston overturned early Saturday on Route 9W at West Camp, about two miles north of Saugerties. They said James Lee Howell, 27, of 23 Pearl Street, was traveling south with mail load when vehicle, owned and leased to government by Fred J. Lewis, of Scottstown Rd., Middletown RD 2, failed to negotiate turn and went down embankment, coming to rest on its side. Howell suffered leg bruises. Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, who went to accident scene, said there was no appreciable delay in first class mail service to Kingston, but parcel post and first class mail to Kingston satellite offices was delayed from five to six hours.

Hoffa, Six Guilty in Fraud Case

Appeal Planned By Union Leader

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury out for three days found Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and six others guilty Sunday of a massive scheme to defraud a $280-million union pension fund.

Hoffa, a trustee of the pension fund, was convicted in U.S. District Court on four counts of fraud and conspiracy and faces 20 years in prison and an $11,000 fine.

Each codefendant was found guilty of at least one fraud charge and one of conspiracy. The indictment included 20 mail fraud charges and one conspiracy charge.

Kennedy Comments

The men specifically were convicted of fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in loans from the pension fund and diverting more than $1 million to their own use.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy hailed the decision and complimented the jury and prosecutors in a statement from his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Hoffa faces a maximum sentence of $1,000 fine and five years on each of the fraud counts and $10,000 and five years on the conspiracy count.

It was Hoffa's fifth federal prosecution since 1957—and his second loss in six months. In February he was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 at Chattanooga, Tenn., for attempting to bribe a jury. He has appealed that conviction.

Not Much Emotion

The stocky union leader nervously paced the courtroom floor while waiting for the jury to return its verdict, but showed little outward emotion afterwards.

The case went to the jury Friday after 13 weeks of testimony and sparring between prosecution and defense.

It took two weeks for opposing attorneys to agree on the eight-man, four-woman jury. During the trial, the jurors were kept under lock and key at the Great Lakes Naval Base 30 miles north of Chicago and permitted only one monitored telephone call per day.

Out 17 1/2 Hours

The jury returned separate findings on 147 charges — 21 naming each defendant. They had deliberated 17 1/2 hours, returning to Great Lakes Friday and Saturday nights.

Judge Richard B. Austin set Aug. 17 for rulings on motions made immediately by defense attorneys for arrest of judgment, a directed verdict of acquittal despite the jury's findings, or a new trial. He ruled the defendants could remain free under present bond arrangements until the hearings.

Will Appeal Conviction

Walsh said he planned to appeal Hoffa's conviction.

One defendant, Benjamin Dranow, 56, a former Minneapolis businessman now serving a prison term for tax fraud, was returned to jail.

The government's conspiracy conviction resulted from its charge that Hoffa and the others schemed to rescue Hoffa from a failing investment in a real estate project near Orlando, Fla.

85 Passengers Die in Portugal Train Disaster

OPORTO, Portugal (AP)—A speeding railway car packed with holidaymakers on the way home from the beach came uncoupled Sunday night, ricocheted back and forth on walls beside the track and overturned down an embankment.

Hospital sources said 85 passengers were killed and more than 100 injured. It was the worst disaster in the history of the privately owned Portuguese Railway Co.

The company ordered a commission of three engineers to investigate the derailling near Custosio, about three miles from Oporto.

Closer Ties, Prayer Are Main Needs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Prayer and closer ties with the Negro community have been proposed by Mayor Chester Kowal in an effort to prevent racial outbursts similar to the three-day riots that have swept nearby Rochester.

But Negro leaders at an emergency meeting Sunday called by Kowal, doubted that prayer and civil rights groups could prevent racial violence.

Control Is Lost

Civil rights groups in Rochester and Buffalo "have lost control of the people," said Joseph Easley, president of the Buffalo Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Kowal said he summoned the leaders to meet with police and fire officials after his office received a report that "race agitators" were in the city.

Police Commissioner William H. Schneider will meet with the same group today at police headquarters. Schneider would not say what would be discussed, although the meeting will be public.

Three Recommendations

In a four-hour meeting, Kowal made three recommendations to prevent racial strife in the state's third largest city:

1. Dedicate a day or week to prayer.

2. Alert all neighborhood units of the Buffalo board of community relations to conduct daily sessions on troublesome issues and report newly arrived residents in neighborhoods.

3. Establish a central communications agent or agency to serve as instant liaison between the board and the neighborhood councils.

Kowal also said he would recommend hiring additional Negro city policemen. At present, there are 26 Negroes, including four superior officers, among the 1,500-man police force.

Three Are Killed As Copter Hits Riot City Site

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Three persons were killed and a county official was injured critically Sunday when a helicopter surveying the city's riot-ravaged west side smashed into a three-story dwelling, setting it afire.

The accident brought to four the number of deaths connected with three days of racial disorder in the city's Negro section.

Killed in the crash and ensuing fire were the pilot, James Docharty, 45, of suburban Brighton, and two Negroes, trapped in the house. Officials were attempting to identify the Negro victims, who, they said, were burned beyond recognition.

Four state troopers, who helped pull two men from the flaming helicopter, were injured, as were several firemen.

Pulled from the wreckage were Robert Abbott, 48, Monroe County Civil Defense director, and Robert Cannito, 31, of nearby Pittsford, the co-pilot.

Both were in Strong Memorial Hospital, where officials said Abbott's condition was critical. Cannito's was described as fair.

OAS Clears the Way To Use Force on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American republics have slapped strong diplomatic and economic sanctions on Cuba and Fidel Castro has brushed off the actions as impudent and unjust.

A conference of the American foreign ministers Sunday approved a diplomatic break and trade embargo against Cuba and cleared the way for the use of armed force against the Castro regime if it continues subversions against other republics of the hemisphere.

Reactions Reported

Within hours after the action was taken, there were these reactions:

—Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said the action "proved once again the ability of the Organization of American States to defend itself against aggression."

—Castro said the OAS is "garbage" and the prime minister declared "the people of Cuba reject as impudent and unjust the sanctions imposed." He issued a "Declaration of Santiago de Cuba" as a reply to the "Declaration of the Americas" of the OAS.

—Tass, the official Soviet news agency, charged that the action set a dangerous precedent and it accused the United States of openly putting pressure on the OAS to take the historic step.

—Several Cuban exile leaders in Miami disagreed on the impact of the OAS sanctions but in general looked upon them as a forward step.

Approved by 15-4

The sanctions were approved by a 15-4 vote—as author of the resolution, Venezuela could not vote. Mexico, Chile, Bolivia and Uruguay—the only Latin-American republics maintaining relations with Cuba—voted no.

The foreign ministers' conference was called at Venezuela's request. It invoked the Inter-American Treaty of Mutual Assistance Dec. 3, after uncovering a three-ton cache of smuggled arms with Cuban markings on a lonely beach in the state of Ealcon where most of the oil-rich Venezuela's refineries are located.

State Hospital Director Looks At Local Places

Dr. Hyman Pleasure, director of the Middletown State Hospital, today confirmed reports that several large residence properties in Kingston have been inspected as possible sites for a "half-way house" in Kingston.

The purpose of a "half-way house" is for the housing of a carefully selected group of discharged or improved patients referred for rehabilitation, who would be under the supervision of an adequate staff.

On W. Chestnut Street Among the properties which have been inspected, Dr. Pleasure said, was the James A. Dwyer property at 70 West Chestnut Street. In addition to the Dwyer premises, Dr. Pleasure said, "some six or seven places" have been inspected as possible suitable sites.

The places inspected have been examined as possible sites which might be rented since the hospital authorities have no authority to acquire them by purchase.

Application Made Dr. Pleasure told a Freeman reporter today that an application had been made to the State Department of Mental Health to consider the State purchasing suitable premises and in turn rent the premises as a "half-way house."

Guard Is Sent In on Riot Duty

Over 800 Arrests, Looting Is Heavy

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—This riot-scarred city emerged today from a bloody weekend of racial violence with four dead, hundreds of injured and massive property damage. An uneasy peace was backed by a combat-ready force of National Guardsmen.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller activated 1,000 guardsmen and ordered them into Rochester to stand by for anti-riot duty if needed.

"Law and order will be maintained in the city of Rochester," the governor declared.

Guardsmen on Patrol

A detachment of 12 open trucks with 18 guardsmen each toured the city's trouble areas in a show of force shortly after the arrival of the guard Sunday night. The men carried rifles with bayonets fixed but had no ammunition.

Three persons were killed and a county official was injured critically Sunday when a helicopter surveying a potential trouble spot smashed into a three-story house and set it afire.

A man was killed by an automobile when he was struck during wild rioting Saturday night, in the height of the racial explosion, and staggered into the street. Two men were shot. One was in critical condition.

More than 800 persons, nearly all Negroes, were arrested. More than 300 other persons were injured, including 25 police officers and several firemen.

Thousands of Negroes participated in rioting throughout the weekend, but police had no estimate of the exact number.

Looters Run Wild

Looters ran wild, pillaging and smashing, especially Saturday night. Liquor stores were a favorite target.

Many rioters were "all fired up on stolen booze," a police official said.

State and local police, working with little rest, were targets of bricks, rocks, bottles, full beer cans, fire bombs and sheets of glass in one outbreak after another.

They answered with tear gas, high-pressure streams from fire hoses and warning shots from their guns. Several individual rioters were clubbed into submission when seized.

Jail Is Jammed

The Rochester jail was jammed and a clerk said the property room was filled with "everything you can think of" in recovered loot.

The job of trying to keep down the riot was proving a difficult one for the fired police officers, a factor in the decision of city officials to appeal for help from the guard. "We were fighting a defensive battle," a high police officer said.

A dawn-to-dusk curfew was imposed, although there was (Continued on Page 19, Col. 2)

Street Repair Is For Consideration Tuesday Night

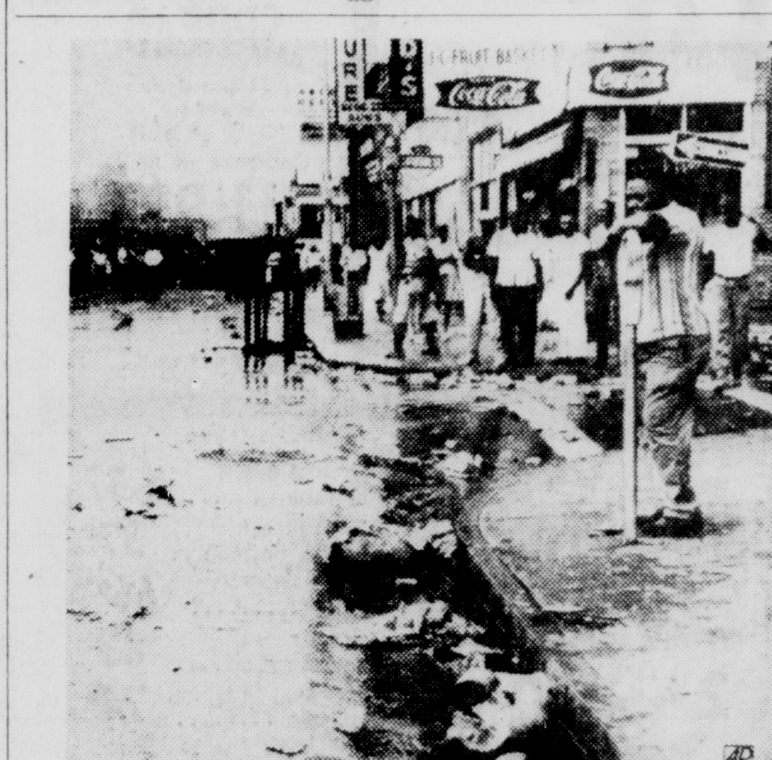

A second phase of the city's street repair program calling for two bond sums totaling $60,695, is due to be considered by the Common Council in a recessed session Tuesday night, which is expected to be attended by a large delegation from the Fifth Ward in protest to proposed use of a swamp area beyond the Kingston Point lagoon for landfill refuse disposal.

Resurfacing and resurfacing work is scheduled for nine streets under a capital bond appropriation of $43,772, and work on eight others, mainly resurfacing, would be done under a bond sum of $16,937.

With the $43,772 appropriation work would be done on Taylor Street, Flatbush Avenue, Derrenbacher Street, Gross, North, New, West Chestnut, and Russell streets, and Second Avenue.

Resurfacing work under the other bond sum is scheduled for Lincoln, DeWitt, Gilead, and South Prospect streets, Kingburg and Pettit avenues, Lounsbury Place, and Donovan Place.

Tuesday was quite cool in the morning. We were quite disappointed because it was supposed to rain but did not. Today was to be Junior Leader Day. This means that the scoutmasters were going to take it easy and the junior leaders were going to do all the work.

During the day we visited the skill-o-rama. Many things were going on at the area. Our troops made "Hobo Stoves." Over 425 stoves were made and distributed by both troops. Lunch was served at 12 noon and then we were given free time to work on the various awards.

Many went to the different skill ranges such as archery, rifle and angling. Many others went to the swapping tent to finish up the deals and try to make new ones. The swapping is coming along very well. Many are sporting different patches.

Our region, Region II was scheduled for a campfire at the arena. However, just before we were to fall in to march to the arena the long needed rain started to come down thus causing the arena campfire to be canceled.

Region 10 held a campfire right near our tents so we traveled over to their campfire.

During the campfire there were many prominent visitors. Jimmy Nelson, famous ventriloquist appeared and entertained. Also at the campfire was Lanny Ross, and James Whittaker the first American to reach the top of Mt. Everest. The boys with press cards took pictures close-up. I took quite a few pictures for the boys who could not get in to see them.

Wednesday was the next to the last day at Valley Forge. This meant that we would have to finish up the awards that we were working on during the week. Today was to be Senior Patrol Leaders' Day, which meant that Joseph DelVecchio was to see that everything was accomplished. The Senior leaders were not to assist him at all. After clean-up the boys were given free time. Most of them finished up their adventure award.

David Jenkins from Catskill, was the first to receive the adventure award in Troop 60. However, we ate lunch then started out on different events. Some visited the Skill-O-Rama exhibits from different troops at Valley Forge.

During the afternoon it grew quite hot and humid. The troop

12 Indians from Kingston came down to play at the Region II Campfire, but due to the weather conditions they were unable to perform and the campfire was canceled. Now we have scheduled a section campfire and there is not one sign of rain at all.

The Section Campfire started at 8 p. m. and featured many talent acts from different troops within the section. An imitation of Louis Armstrong, a native dance and many other acts were featured at the campfire. After the campfire the troops returned to their sites and held bedcheck.

The local troops entertained several important visitors during the day. Alex McDonald, chief scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council visited and brought with him some swapping material from Camp Tri-Mount.

Ralph Shapiro of Kingston Troop 12, head of The Indians drum corps also visited the troops. Joseph Mumpower, former nature director at Camp Tri-Mount, also visited and talked with several of the local leaders.

The official Jamboree attendance was reported as 53,124, a new record attendance at Valley Forge. At Colorado Springs in 1960 the attendance was 56,000 due to the larger site.

Red Detective Story

BERLIN (AP)—Crime authors in Communist East Germany have been told to dream up a "socialist Sherlock Holmes." The spirit of the famous detective created by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle should be revived in the person of "a farsighted, wise officer of the People's Police," the authors were told at a writers' convention in East Berlin. Stories about the new super-detective must have a socialistic moral, however. They must not describe crimes that can be imitated, but contribute to reduction of crime, the authors were warned. But crimes committed in West Germany can be described, so as to "expose the way the West German police apparatus operates in the interest of the imperialist state," the official Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland reported.

It is hoped that a safe northern water route will help the Canadian North, whose mineral resources have scarcely been tapped.

Participating in the ceremony are (l-r) Ralph Simmons, church trustee; Gerald Overbagh, chairman of the trustees; Fred Wells, George Wilde, contractor; the Rev. Expectant Mother Held in Death of Estranged Mate

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—A mother of five children, expecting her sixth in a few weeks, was charged with first-degree murder today in the rifle slaying of her divorced husband.

Police said Mrs. Catherine Hamel, 35, shot Albert Hamel, 38, of Cohoes, during an argument Sunday night at her apartment in Troy. He died in St. Mary's Hospital early this morning.

Police said Hamel had been wounded in the side with a single shot from a British Enfield Rifle. The couple's five children, ranging in age from one to 11, slept through the incident.

Hamel had been seeing his former wife periodically during

Fifth Ward Community Group Meets Tonight

The Fifth Ward Community Association will meet at 7:30 tonight in St. Mary's Hall on North Street to discuss a progress report on their protest against a proposed dump in the ward.

Association officials meanwhile, predicted a large attendance by ward residents at the regular meeting of the Common Council Tuesday night in City Hall. Although Mayor John J. Schwenk is legally authorized to install a dump, officials said, they wanted him to know that they would seek all legal recourse to prevent it. They maintain that an incinerator is the answer.

The past few weeks, police said. Mrs. Hamel faced arraignment today in Troy Police Court on the murder charge.

German Magazine Says Goldwater Plans on Extremes

BONN, Germany (AP)—A leading West German magazine says Sen. Barry Goldwater told one of its correspondents: "The only person who is respected is the one who clearly says—when necessary—that he is determined to go to extremes."

"That is a policy that your country and all successful countries have followed throughout the past thousand years," the Republican presidential candidate is quoted as telling Werner Holzer, a correspondent for the weekly magazine Revue.

In a statement issued in Washington, Goldwater said he had not given an interview to the German newsman—"He only asked me a few questions." Holzer said Sunday night he met Goldwater on July 4 at Prescott, Ariz., and told him he had been trying to get an appointment for an interview. He said the senator suggested they talk then and there.

Quotes Barry

Holzer wrote that Goldwater told him:

"My ideas for a successful American foreign policy correspond generally to the policy of the Eisenhower government and Secretary of State Dulles. You must always show yourself ready to throw in everything if you want to be respected, and you are fighting for peace."

The report said Goldwater replied in the affirmative when Holzer asked him: "So a policy of 'up to the brink of war' as Secretary of State Dulles long held to be correct?"

About De Gaulle

Goldwater was also quoted as saying that differences with President Charles de Gaulle of France could be eased through efforts to meet De Gaulle "part way" in the Atlantic Alliance.

"Gen. de Gaulle is a great man and he governs a great country so I understand completely that he wants to play the role in world policy that he deserves," Goldwater was quoted as saying.

Two Girls Killed By Rock Slide On Mt. Rainier

LONGMIRE, Wash. (AP)—A rock slide described by a survivor as "a cloud of rocks" killed two teen-age girls, one of them a bride of two months, on Mt. Rainier Sunday. Three youngsters were injured.

They were in a party of 19 on a mile hike from the Nisqually River bridge eight miles above Longmire to the snout of Nisqually Glacier.

The dead were Elise Starr, 14, of Los Angeles, and Janet Leetola, 18, of Kent, Wash.

Elise was spending the summer here with her stepfather, Jess Levine, a Los Angeles schoolteacher and a seasonal naturalist at Mt. Rainier National Park.

Mrs. Leetola died of injuries shortly before an Air Force helicopter arrived to rescue her. Her husband, Thomas, escaped injury.

Mary Macadam, 10, of Long Beach, Calif., suffered a broken right leg, broken right arm, two broken fingers and a lacerated hand. Her father, Walter, pulled her behind one of the huge boulders which line the trail, suffering glancing blows from flying rocks as he did so.

The Macadam girl and James Beauregard, 15, of Brooklyn, N.Y., were taken to a hospital at nearby Morton, Wash. The boy had a fractured right foot.

Joyce Bower, 25, of Portland, Ore., was cut and bruised on the leg. She was not hospitalized.

Mary's mother, Evelyn Macadam, said: "The people in the party looked up and saw cloud of rocks falling on them from the top. Everyone ran for shelter. We praise the Lord. He is with us."

Police Just Miss Blocking Suicide At Famous Span

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police were only minutes behind when Richard H. Gillespie Jr. braked his car near the north tower of the Golden Gate Bridge Sunday and leaped 200 feet to his death on the jagged rocks below.

Officers said Gillespie, 24, had left a note for his mother, saying, "Everything I have done is a lie. I must do away with myself before I cause further harm."

Mrs. Gillespie discovered the note a few minutes after her son left the house. She alerted police. The highway patrol was looking for Gillespie when he jumped.

He was the 266th known suicide off the world-famous span.

Dear Abby . . .

A Man's Viewpoint!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have always considered you the voice of anti-intellectual mid-Victorian morality. As such, you had your finest moment when you advised a 14-year-old boy to run rather than to defend himself against a 15-year-old outsize girl. I say if a girl wants to act like a boy, treat her as a boy. A black eye and a split lip in childhood is a small price to pay if it prevents a female from confusing her role with that of a male's in adult life.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE L. H.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to MRS. M. burned me up. That's the trouble with society today. You women want to wear the pants, smoke, go in bars and compete with men for jobs, but when the going gets rough you expect special treatment just because you're women. I say that a kid who slugged the girl deserves a pat on the back. I'll bet that was the last time that big fat Amazon ever took a poke at him. Sign me . . .

SWEENEY

DEAR ABBY: Just read about the 14-year-old boy who was given a beating by his father for socking a 15-year-old girl in the eye. When I was an 8-year-old boy, I was unmercifully tormented by an older, bigger girl. I was ashamed to ask for help because people would laugh at a boy who would let a girl scare him. If only I had had the nerve to pick up a good-sized stick and let her have some good whacks on the shins, maybe I wouldn't dislike women as much as I do today. When an overgrown, aggressive woman provokes a man, she deserves a black eye. For a man to strike a woman of average proportions and ladylike deportment is a despicable act. But today just let one of those other types bug me and I'll kick her right in the seat.

MR. M

DEAR ABBY: Our sewing club discussed the letter in your column from the mother of a 14-year-old boy who beat up a 15-year-old girl because she kicked him, hit him and called him names. The boy's father heard about it and gave the boy a good thrashing. You were asked what the boy should have done in such a case and you said that since the girl outweighed him by 30 pounds, and was half a head taller than he was, the boy should have run. In our entire group, Abby, I was the only one who stood by you. All the other women said they thought the boy had no choice but to beat the girl up in order to defend himself. Maybe you and I were not raised the same as most folks, but I still think it is less of a disgrace for a boy to run from a girl than to beat her up.

NELL IN N. J.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from Mrs. M., whose 14-year-old son gave a 15-year-old girl a black eye and a split lip in self-defense. You said, "Under no circumstances should a boy ever hit a girl." I think you gave some pretty bum advice there, ABBY. If a girl hits a boy first, I think he has a perfect right to hit her back. You have a son, Abby, why don't you ask HIM for HIS opinion? I'll bet HE wouldn't run from a girl.

ONE FOR YOUR WASTEBASKET

DEAR ONE: I just asked him. He said he wouldn't HIT her in the same way he'd hit a boy. But he'd give her a "padding" she'd never forget. You win!

Speculation on steps for bolstering the fight against the Communist guerrillas include these possibilities: sending more U.S. planes, increasing the U.S. training program and sending more U.S. military advisory forces.

Dear Abby . . .

A Man's Viewpoint!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have always considered you the voice of anti-intellectual mid-Victorian morality. As such, you had your finest moment when you advised a 14-year-old boy to run rather than to defend himself against a 15-year-old outsize girl. I say if a girl wants to act like a boy, treat her as a boy. A black eye and a split lip in childhood is a small price to pay if it prevents a female from confusing her role with that of a male's in adult life.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE L. H.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to MRS. M. burned me up. That's the trouble with society today. You women want to wear the pants, smoke, go in bars and compete with men for jobs, but when the going gets rough you expect special treatment just because you're women. I say that a kid who slugged the girl deserves a pat on the back. I'll bet that was the last time that big fat Amazon ever took a poke at him. Sign me . . .

SWEENEY

DEAR ABBY: Just read about the 14-year-old boy who was given a beating by his father for socking a 15-year-old girl in the eye. When I was an 8-year-old boy, I was unmercifully tormented by an older, bigger girl. I was ashamed to ask for help because people would laugh at a boy who would let a girl scare him. If only I had had the nerve to pick up a good-sized stick and let her have some good whacks on the shins, maybe I wouldn't dislike women as much as I do today. When an overgrown, aggressive woman provokes a man, she deserves a black eye. For a man to strike a woman of average proportions and ladylike deportment is a despicable act. But today just let one of those other types bug me and I'll kick her right in the seat.

MR. M

DEAR ABBY: Our sewing club discussed the letter in your column from the mother of a 14-year-old boy who beat up a 15-year-old girl because she kicked him, hit him and called him names. The boy's father heard about it and gave the boy a good thrashing. You were asked what the boy should have done in such a case and you said that since the girl outweighed him by 30 pounds, and was half a head taller than he was, the boy should have run. In our entire group, Abby, I was the only one who stood by you. All the other women said they thought the boy had no choice but to beat the girl up in order to defend himself. Maybe you and I were not raised the same as most folks, but I still think it is less of a disgrace for a boy to run from a girl than to beat her up.

NELL IN N. J.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from Mrs. M., whose 14-year-old son gave a 15-year-old girl a black eye and a split lip in self-defense. A MURDER PER HOUR

Murder was committed in our country last year at a rate averaging almost one every hour the year 'round. Almost 400,000 automobiles were stolen, and there were almost a million burglaries. All told, the Federal Bureau of Investigation says, serious crimes occurred at the rate of four per minute.

The amount of serious crime in the nation last year increased by 10 per cent over 1962. Moreover, the upward trend has been going on for some years. The FBI reports that whereas the population has risen eight per cent since 1958, serious crime has increased 40 per cent, or five times as fast.

The United States is not alone in experiencing a steady crime increase. For example, at about the time the FBI figures came out the annual report of Scotland Yard said that serious crime in London rose to a record level last year.

It is noteworthy that a similar theme runs through the comments of FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and Sir Joseph Simpson, London's Commissioner of Metropolitan Police. Hoover complains that whereas many "impassioned and articulate pleas" are made in the criminal's behalf, the victim often tends to be overlooked. Sir Joseph complains that ever-tightening rules of evidence make it increasingly difficult to convict those accused of crime.

These views reflect the frequent complaint of law enforcement authorities that laws protecting citizens' rights often tend to hamper the police. The matter cannot be lightly dismissed however. Something clearly needs to be done to curb the rapid increase in crime. The doctrine of "equal protection under the law" is often invoked in behalf of lawbreakers. It must be invoked with at least equal zeal in behalf of those victimized by crime.

NEW ROCKET MOTOR

Rocketry has thus far always been attended by a great roar and a tail of flaming gases. These things have become the very symbol of the rocket.

The other day a new kind of rocket motor was successfully tested high above the Atlantic. Its propellant force did not come from chemical fuel burning; it depended, rather, on the quiet, steady emission of a stream of mercury particles in a positively charged vapor.

The significance of this ion propulsion engine is that eventually it will be able to provide the kind of long-range space drive which chemical fuel cannot supply because of its great weight. Chemical propellants will send rockets aloft, and then the ion propulsion engines will steadily build up speed over a period of months—speeds of 100,000 to 200,000 miles an hour.

This is not just around the corner, granted. But the test launching from Wallops Island, provided an answer to the basic question whether such engines can operate in space. They can, and some day they will propel great space ships.

COMPUTERIZED SOCIETY

There is both fascination and chill foreboding in David Sarnoff's vision of a brave new world dominated, if not wholly controlled, by electronic computers. His vision is a good deal more authoritative than the common pseudo-scientific dream of the future to which we are so often treated, for he draws upon the resources of an industry steeped in such lore.

Sarnoff recently told a group of bankers that over the next two decades computers would "touch off an explosion in the social sciences." He foresees that computers of the not very distant future will "communicate tirelessly with one another" and will respond to spoken commands, to images and even to handwriting. He envisions television-linked conferences with the participants all remaining at home; he sees voting from home via computerized television-phone. He also spoke of an educational

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN PIONEERS, O PIONEERS!

Santa Barbara, Calif.—After consorting for a couple of weeks with politicians, who, as a rule, outdo the famous rooter Chanticleer in claiming that they make the sun come up, it is a pleasure to get back into the company of people who really do move the world.

Thirty-seven years ago a young flier named Charles A. Lindbergh brought his plane out of California to a Long Island field before taking off for Paris on the first continent-to-continent transoceanic hop. He did it without benefit of the expensive organizations that were backing the other fliers. Here in Santa Barbara his son, Jon M. Lindbergh, carries on unobtrusively in another medium, but to the same end of subduing nature to the needs of men.

Jon Lindbergh and a few venturesome associates are engaged in what seems to the uninitiated laymen to be the extremely hazardous business of making deep sea dives for offshore oil drilling companies, telephone companies with underwater cables, and municipalities with oceanic sewage disposal outlets. They work two and three hundred feet down, breathing a mixture of oxygen and helium under heavy pressures, getting some twenty or more minutes of effectiveness on the ocean floor to five or six hours spent in a decompression tank to avoid that ancient disease of divers known as the bends. Diving is an expensive and exacting profession, but Jon Lindbergh makes a routine matter of checking every last safety detail, just as his father did when he was pioneering new air routes all over the world.

What impresses one in talking with Jon Lindbergh is the family tradition of taking great chances while leaving nothing to chance. There are other family traditions involved as well. Poetry manifests itself in the appreciation of Jon Lindbergh's watery world, as when he dispatches a telegram from four hundred feet under the ocean in the Bahamas to his daughter Christine describing the covorings of a fish eating orange peels or a bit of plastic. This is the son of poet Anne Morrow Lindbergh speaking. It is sensitivity married to great daring.

The whole Jon Lindbergh household personifies the traditions of pioneers. Jon's wife Barbara is a Robbins. Jim Robbins, Barbara's father, was an inventor and a builder who did great work all over the West. His specialty was the construction of gigantic boring machines for use in mines and other tunneling operations. Barbara Lindbergh's childhood was spent in remote places; she remembers such things as making a crash landing at the age of twelve with her father on a sandbar of a cold Alaskan river and being unable to take off. The river water rose, drowning the plane, and father and daughter had to swim to shore. There followed the chancy trek back to civilization down the river, swimming freezing tributaries that flowed into the main stream, and living on sugar cubes that had been beforehand provided by a pioneer who was careful as Charles Lindbergh himself.

Jim Robbins was lost in an airplane crash on a flight between Colorado and Puget Sound. His son Dick Robbins found himself the head of a family business with headquarters in Seattle that had depended on the father's reputation for inventiveness. With contracts disappearing all over the lot, Dick Robbins had to sell off the office equipment and reduce the payroll to virtually one stenographer. But the business came back when Dick Robbins made a great success with a boring machine designed for use in Tasmania. Last year Dick Robbins made eleven trips to Europe and four trips around the world in connection with his family's methods of subduing nature to the needs of men.

THE WELL CHILD

Infant's Lack of Growth May Be Inherited Trait

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most babies grow like weeds. Knowing this, parents show great alarm if their baby either fails to thrive or suddenly appears to stop growing.

Although a tendency to slow growth may be an inherited trait, it may also be a sign of disease.

Temporary loss of weight is to be expected with attacks of vomiting, diarrhea or acute infections. Emotional disturbances may also be a cause. When there is a persistent failure to grow, however, your doctor may have to conduct an all-out campaign to track down the cause.

Such things as prematurity and prenatal complications (maternal bleeding, injury or infection) must be considered as well as cystic fibrosis and diseases of the glands of internal secretion, lungs, brain, liver or kidneys.

Q—My son has what our doctor calls Osgood-Schlatter's disease. What is it? Will he outgrow it? And what is the treatment?

A—This is a disease of the centers of bony growth in children between 5 and 15 years of age. The cause is unknown. It most commonly involves the bones of the foot, leg and thigh. The chief complaint is pain in the foot, knee or hip. A plaster cast or some sort of support to prevent a weight bearing is recommended. If this is done the victim will outgrow the disease completely during puberty.

Q—My 4-year-old granddaughter got an infected ear and the doctor punctured the ear drum. Was that necessary? The ear was still running five days later. Will the punctured drum cause her to be hard of hearing?

A—When the middle ear (the part just inside the drum) is infected, pus accumulates under pressure and causes great pain. When the doctor punctures the ear drum this relieves the pain, establishes drainage and insures better healing than if the drum is allowed to rupture.

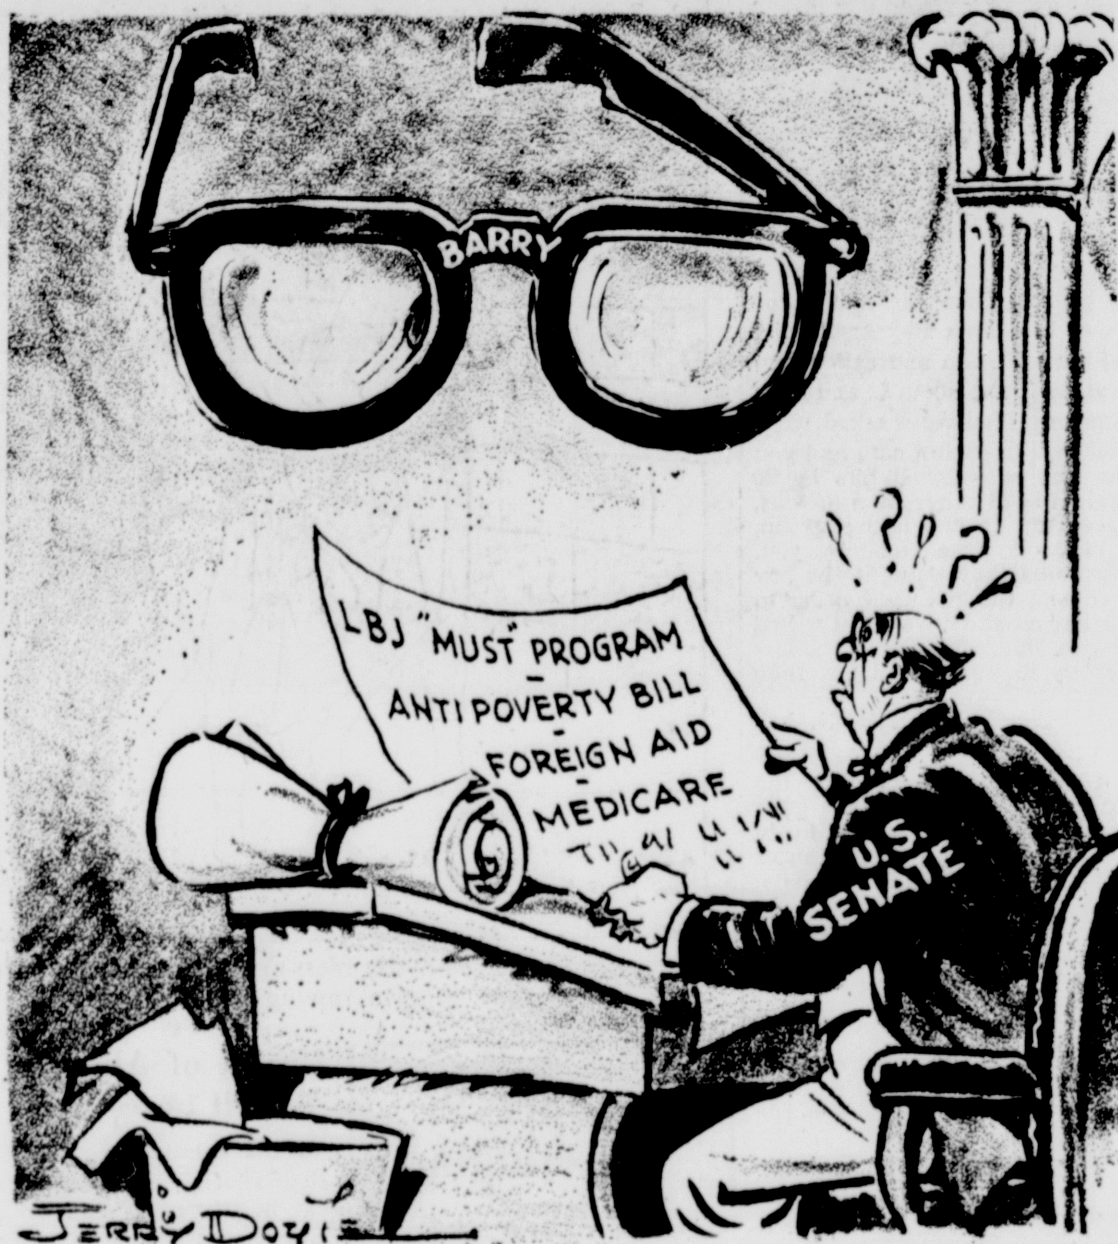

Antibiotics help to shorten the acute stage which might otherwise last a week or two. The drug is usually given until the drainage stops. The drum then heals and is as good as ever. Defective hearing from this cause is rare and is due to some complication.

speedup through computerized teaching machines, and rapid diagnosis of illness, and rapid exchange of information from distant points.

All this is intriguing. The chill begins to creep in when Sarnoff predicts that every individual will possess a code number for a wide range of purposes, and that "the number would tend to become as important for him as his name." Sarnoff himself warned of the dangers that might arise at such a time. Computers, he said, should never be allowed to take the place of human reasoning.

The point is vital. Other experts in the field have already noted that as we increasingly depend on computers we sacrifice more and more of our humanness. As society moves into the computer age, great care should be taken to make sure that man's place at the helm is not given over to the machines he has created.

The All-Seeing Tortoise Shell Glasses

JERRY DOYLE, PHILADELPHIA DAILY NEWS

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT Washington Correspondent Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The giddy talk that President Johnson may win all 50 states in November is now seldom heard among politicians. Suddenly, they are giving Sen. Barry Goldwater a big chance to be elected.

This dramatic turnaround is not reflected in the public opinion polls, which still show Johnson with a crushing lead. At this stage the notions about Barry's prospects are in the realm of hunch, of a feeling in the bones.

That feeling clearly is related to the country's great racial struggle. To be blunt about it, a good many political figures believe that the Negroes, even as they are voting right and nine to one against him, may elect Goldwater.

The view gaining steady currency is that every big show of Negro militancy—whether riots in Harlem, demonstrations, sit-ins, picketing of Goldwater himself or whatever—makes white votes for Barry in droves.

One cynical appraiser said: "Barry ought to hire some Negroes to picket him wherever he goes."

GOLDWATER'S ANNOUNCED WISH to join with the President in planning a campaign that will not heighten racial tensions could be quite irrelevant.

In both the North and the South, he has become the symbol of white citizens' hopes that a brake may somehow be put on Negro advances in schools, jobs and housing.

Given his many pro-states rights utterances and his celebrated vote against the 1964 civil rights bill, Goldwater's very presence in the presidential race assures that he will be a rallying point for unnumbered Americans who think the Negro is "going too far and pushing too hard."

The northern industrial states obviously hold the key to a possible Goldwater victory.

It may be fairly assumed that many suburban whites, feeling the threats of Negro advance, may exhibit their resentment and fear in votes for Goldwater.

PERHAPS MORE CRUCIAL to the election outcome is what happens among the equally concerned urban nationality minorities—working people who usually vote Democratic.

One seasoned observer suggests that the economic ties which bind these people to the Democrats have been steadily weakened over the years. If this voting right and nine to one against him, may elect Goldwater.

AS FOR THE 11-STATE OLD SOUTH, make no mistake about it: Republican leaders have completely reinstated the Goldwater "southern strategy" relied upon before John F. Kennedy's assassination.

This means Goldwaterites in the South believe they can take most of the 11 states for the Senator, despite the fact that his opponent now is a Texan who speaks in familiar southern accents.

A Republican with wide southern contacts says Goldwater ought to be sure rights now of Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Florida.

North Carolina and Arkansas are considered fair bets, too. And with Alabama's Gov. George Wallace out of the race, Goldwater's outlook in Alabama and Mississippi is plainly enhanced.

It is interesting to note that two men—one a northern governor's aide and the other a veteran southern observer—correctly forecast to this reporter that Wallace would pull out a few days after Goldwater was nominated at San Francisco. Both believe the story of how this was managed will make interesting reading some day, though they have no shred of evidence at this time.

Quick Quiz

Q—What is the origin of the expression "knuckle down to," commonly used in admonishing a person to apply him self earnestly to a task?

A—"Knuckle," which we use today to mean the knuckles of the hand, once meant any bone joint, including those of the human spine. Thus to "knuckle down" meant to put one's back into the job.

The kid from West Branch, Iowa will be 90 years old in a few days. I must admit that Herbert Hoover does a better day's work than I. He and Miss Miller, his chief aide, keep a group of stenographers typing and copying long-hand manuscripts. The 31st President is a perfectionist, and he turns out books slowly and carefully, polishing the words until they gleam.

What is the secret of long life? My guess is that it has something to do with long-living parents and grandparents. But that's just a guess. My father will be 81 in October, and he says he did it without really trying. My mother died at 73; my grandparents died at 82, 84, 75 and 41. Grandpa Bishop lost to chronic asthma when he was young.

Sheldon Mix writes an article in Today's Health called How to Live to be 100, but it is anecdotal rather than scientific. He says that Senora Paolina Pichi, of Borgosesia, Italy, lived to be 106. She said she ate spaghetti three times a day for 100 years. It finally got her.

Maurice Chevalier is only 75 and he says "the secret is everything in moderation." That isn't the way he was talking 30 years ago. A 105-year-old farmer of Thuravston, England, attributes his five score and five to beer drinking and pipe smoking, but Charles Decker, of Marcellus, Michigan (same age), said he lived a long time because he never drank or smoked. Just breathed.

The old people do not agree on anything. Former Vice President John Nance Garner believed in eating anything that didn't eat him first. He was also known to tilt a little bourbon and branch water behind the senatorial lockers. Wolf K. Sunday, 103, says "It's a good thing to push away from the table before you're full." Stan Musial, an old ballplayer but a strapping 43, believes in leaving the dinner table hungry.

Ridiculous, feels Mrs. Rosalie Thomas, of Blois, France. She is 103 and has only one rule: "Don't ever put water in wine." Amos Alonzo Stagg, 101 and renowned football coach, avoided all alcohol, all tobacco, and all coffee.

It leaves you healthy and grouchy. A lady in Dubuque, Iowa, who wears a perpetually happy smile, said that two shots of whiskey every day and five packs of cigarettes a week helped her mightily to get through the first hundred years. William Maibert, 106, still walks to the pub every day in Huddersfield, England. Getting home? Well that's another problem.

Last year Barnardo R. Hernandez, 133, died in Mexico. He said he had never been ill, and had drunk tequila every day of Public Demonstrations And Law and Order

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Platitudes and hortatory statements deploping violence and urging respect for "law and order" will do little good in race conflicts such as have broken out recently in the big cities. The situation will be helped only when President Johnson and state executives, like New York's Gov. Rockefeller, begin to brush aside their political sensitivity and start coming to grips with the root of the whole problem—the abuse of the so-called right of public demonstration.

A dispatch over the wires of the UPI last Saturday afternoon tells in a nutshell the story of what's happening and why. It read as follows: "New York—A Negro group led by an admitted Communist today went ahead with plans for a Harlem rally despite orders from the Police demonstrations by the group. . . .

"The Harlem Defense Council is led by William Epton, who says he is a Communist and recently taunted police by saying 'there is nothing they can do about political beliefs.'"

Epton, who is 32 years old, later was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. He was released on $500 bond and ordered to appear for a hearing on Aug. 7. But in somewhat similar cases in the South, the Supreme Court of the United States has found technical reasons for reversing convictions for disorderly conduct and trespassing on private property.

And, of course, all the Communists keep fully informed about such proceedings and then taunt the police with statements that Communists are "just another political party" and can claim "Constitutional rights."

The present Supreme Court has upheld the right to demonstrate but unfortunately has ignored the long-established precedents in which rulings were made that it is unlawful to incite to violence.

There is nothing wrong with demonstrations in a mass meeting held in a hall or an arena, where any person who wishes can attend and listen to speeches. But there is something potentially dangerous about a street demonstration which embitters and offends people whose involvement is involuntary as they happen to be in the area or as their homes are invaded and their places of business are looted.

Former President Eisenhower said in a press conference last year that every group "has a right to bring to the attention of the public its dissatisfactions when its rights are not recognized and allowed to be exercised," but that "when they go to the extent of irritating, exacerbating the situation, then the basic issue cannot be ignored any longer, despite its political embarrassments. For the American people are beginning to see that the looting of stores, with damages running into the millions, has very little to do with the merits of any civil rights question, but has everything to do with the age-old problem of crushing crime by any measure of law enforcement deemed necessary to protect life and property.

his life. In the end, the slice of lime got him. Dr. Robert Samp of the University of Wisconsin Medical School says that there are 29,000 Americans who lived to age 100 or more, and all of them seem to have done it by adopting a philosophy of "Why fight? Why not roll with the punch?"

In sum, they never took life seriously. They did not feel impelled to compete with their neighbors on any level. If General Douglas A. McArthur had a secret, it was that he took a nap every day after lunch, peeling the bedsprad down neatly, and eating sparingly. I met a farmer in Eastern Maryland who was at Ford's Theatre the night Lincoln was shot. He was five on that fateful occasion, and most of what he thought he recalled was material that he read years later.

However, he was 95, and lived alone on his farm, did all his own plowing and planting and, in the wintertime, he lived with his daughter in Georgetown. Sheldon Mix tells about a fascinating family in Ontario, Canada. They worked the 100-acre Elford farm. Charles Elford, 85, did the tilling and sowing; his sister Angelina, 85, did all the housework.

They had to work hard, because they were the youngest in a big family. The older brothers and sisters were 90, 93, 94, 97, 101 and 103. My grandpa Tier—no fool—used to sit in the dark holding hands with his wife, Mary. He was 78. She was 75. I once asked him if his intentions were honorable. He gave me a dark look. "I'm saving electricity," he said.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, 78, cardiologist to Presidents, rides a bicycle. Hattie Twine of Providence, R. I., did the twist on her 106th birthday. Mrs. Elie Dufour of Quebec reached 100, and wasn't sure why, but she was certain of one thing. "Hard work won't kill you." She had 15 children, chopped the wood on her farm.

Cosmo Battaglia, 100, of Chicago, says that younger men permit their wives to push them around. This, he feels, is wrong. "When you finish work, head for the couch." Mrs. Susie Smith, 101, an ex-slave, is poetic: "The Lord leaves us old folks around," she says, "for young people to take patterns from."

Mrs. Mary M. Baker of Parismer, Pa., says she reached the hundred mark by "minding my own business." Mrs. Jennie Barrett of Evanston, Illinois, thinks that being a Republican has something to do with being 106. Mary McMaisters of Wilkinsburg, Pa., was an old maid who lived to be 100.

"Men," she said "are aggravating." She's the kind that listens in on party lines.

GREED AND GULLIBILITY

A reader of this article asks my approval of his purchase of several thousand shares of Cuban-Venezuela Oil common stock at 5 cents a share. Well, he won't get it.

So, my answer to him is: "You can lose only 5 cents a share. Can you afford to buy 10,000 shares for $500?"

Greed and gullibility are leading forces behind the operations of thousands of inexperienced investors today. A young investor with $500 wants to make a killing in a hurry and he is ready to purchase almost any penny stock that might advance 1,000 per cent in a year or less.

Whether he wins or loses, the psychological effect will be unfortunate for him. If he loses $500, he may become cynical. If he wins, he may become an inveterate stock gambler. Either viewpoint is wrong.

Today in America, there are about 17,000,000 stockholders. In ten years, there will probably be 27,000,000. Five million of these new equity owners may easily fall into the classification of this potential purchaser of cheap, risk-laden oil shares.

Here is a strange anomaly of today's investment world: a small investor with $500 of hard-earned savings in his greed to make $5,000 in a hurry will develop a gullibility which destroys his sense of values.

On the other hand, an investor worth $500,000 will buy U. S. Government 4 per cent bonds to protect his money. The very investor who can afford to take chances will not do so.

My fan mail is very revealing in these regards. I know that unbridled speculation is to be found in the affairs of thousands of small investors.

For 34 years, I have been in the very center of the speculative world. Its potentialities are boundless. Money is plentiful supply in America and never have we had so many people with from $500 to $5,000 who are willing to buy stocks that have a greed appeal.

Readers ask me what I do myself. Well, I never bought a speculative stock for capital gains until I had cash in a good commercial bank and in a leading savings bank.

Then I bought three insurance policies. My 25-year endowment policy matured in 1960. I still carry two policies and I leave the dividends to earn interest. I owned $25,000 of solid dividend-paying common stocks before I bought a share for capital appreciation.

I never buy stocks like Cuban-Venezuela Oil. There are plenty of interesting, appreciation-possibility equities listed on the New York Stock Exchange to satisfy the desires of conservative speculators.

No investor should buy a share of risk-laden stock until his cash reserves are ample, his insurance program adequate, and his list of top-notch common stocks substantial.

Savings bank officials, trust officers of commercial banks, investment counselors, experienced brokers and bankers should recognize today's drift to greed and gullibility and should choke off their deleterious powers before they can get started.

Liberals Have Not Decided on Senate Post Designation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton says he has been told by New York State Liberal party leaders that they have not taken a position for or against him or any other candidate for the United States Senate seat now held by Republican Kenneth Keating.

Stratton, of Amsterdam, said after a weekend meeting with the Liberal party leaders that they told him "they didn't intend to take any position until after the Democratic convention" in Atlantic City next month.

Stratton said there had been reports in the state that the Liberal party would not go along with his candidacy for the Senate.

Stratton aides claim for their man the support of at least 31 of the state's 62 Democratic county leaders.

Keating has not yet declared himself a candidate for re-election but is expected to do so.

Stratton said he had met with Dr. Timothy Costello, State Liberal party chairman, and Ben Davidson, executive director of that party.

Highway Fatal Total 1,211 in 6-Month Period

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Highway accidents claimed a total of 1,211 lives in the first six months of this year, a 15 per cent increase over the first half of 1963.

The toll last month was 249 deaths, compared with 201 in June of last year.

The State Motor Vehicle Department said Sunday in announcing the figures that "the June 1964 record only worsened a picture that has grown increasingly gloomy with each successive month."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Many folks who are still living in the family homesteads and have cellars and attics, or those who have moved into an old home where some items were left may run across some interesting things. There are several newspapers or magazines put out which run advertisements asking or selling such old items. I like to read them. For instance someone in New York City, is looking for old photographs of little boys with long curls or velvet or kilt suits. I notice an advertisement asking for carrying trays, posters, glasses and other fountain items of soft drinks or years gone by which are being wanted today.

One collector is looking for books, maps, old directories and such on Albany, New York. There are those who collect anything on old cars, or the cars themselves. Some want anything of brass or part brass, like auto lamps, horns, whistles, radiators. Kingston is in one of those advertisements in the Antique Trader of July 15, 1964 on page 31, at the top of the page. It reads in part: "In Historic Kingston, New York, Antique Show-Sale, Old Dutch Church, Wall Street, Oct. 8, 9 and 10. Luncheon, Smorgasbord, Food Bar, donation 50 cents. Senior Choir Sponsor." Kingston, Mass., also had an antique show on July 17 and 18, and they add: "200 miles from World's Fair, right in the land of the Pilgrims-Antiquity-History-Vacationland." It is strange with all this spending on million dollar structures like our own County Office building of glass and metal, so foreign to our little old Dutch Colonial city of Kingston, all over the country, there is now a great love for the old, antique, the architectural gingerbread, for which buyers and collectors will pay fabulous sums.

I see in Batavia, N. Y. they are having their November antique show right in their Notre Dame High School with some 32 dealers, run by Jansen-Dyer who runs many of the Kingston shows. In Oneonta, they have their shows at the National Guard Armory. No doubt, if in the center of town, like our old Athletic Field, as I call it, where circuses used to be held when I was a little girl, today a Flea Market could be held, which are held all over the country. Dealers come in station wagons and display their wares, and sometimes it is open to the public free, and other times, a small fee is charged, but the advertising on these Flea Markets bring many people to town. I hope that now, with our new school being completed in the Hasbrouck Park, or McVey's as we called it in my time, that everything of some historic importance from the old schools, such as the school bell be preserved and perhaps displayed in the new school. When James Beleafs bought the old School No. 13 in Port Ewen, the bell went with the sale. He had a customer for it immediately, and could have sold it for a good price, instead, he donated it to the Port Ewen School, and even had a structure made to have it in standing position and in ringing form. Robert Graves, principal of the new Port Ewen School, arranged a handsome display for it with a plaque in the front hall, where it is today. Collectors and buyers are so varied and often, just in postal cards alone, some want only postal cards of the early days, showing trolley-cars and train

The Mormon story, with a cast of nearly 400, will be portrayed nightly, July 28 through Aug. 1, on a series of stages covering a vast hillside in the area called the "cradle" of Mormonism, where the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints had its beginnings nearly 150 years ago.

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball Yankees needed more people to attend their games. Taxi drivers deal with a lot of people who might be talked into going to a baseball game. So, the Yankees gave away 20,000 tickets to cab drivers to spur their interest in the club and presumably start talking it up to their passengers.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Many folks who are still living in the family homesteads and have cellars and attics, or those who have moved into an old home where some items were left may run across some interesting things. There are several newspapers or magazines put out which run advertisements asking or selling such old items. I like to read them. For instance someone in New York City, is looking for old photographs of little boys with long curls or velvet or kilt suits. I notice an advertisement asking for carrying trays, posters, glasses and other fountain items of soft drinks or years gone by which are being wanted today.

One collector is looking for books, maps, old directories and such on Albany, New York. There are those who collect anything on old cars, or the cars themselves. Some want anything of brass or part brass, like auto lamps, horns, whistles, radiators. Kingston is in one of those advertisements in the Antique Trader of July 15, 1964 on page 31, at the top of the page. It reads in part: "In Historic Kingston, New York, Antique Show-Sale, Old Dutch Church, Wall Street, Oct. 8, 9 and 10, Luncheon, Smorgasbord, Food Bar, donation 50 cents, Senior Choir Sponsor." Kingston, Mass., also had an antique show on July 17 and 18, and they add: "200 miles from World's Fair, right in the land of the Pilgrims-Antiquity-History-Vacationland." It is strange with all this spending on million dollar structures like our own County Office building of glass and metal, so foreign to our little old Dutch Colonial city of Kingston, all over the country, there is now a great love for the old, antique, the architectural gingerbread, for which buyers and collectors will pay fabulous sums.

I see in Batavia, N. Y. they are having their November antique show right in their Notre Dame High School with some 32 dealers, run by James Dyer who runs many of the Kingston shows. In Oneonta, they have their shows at the National Guard Armory. No doubt, if in the center of town, like our old Athletic Field, as I call it, where circuses used to be held when I was a little girl, today a Flea Market could be had, which are held all over the country. Dealers come in station wagons, and display their wares, and sometimes it is open to the public free, and other times, a small fee is charged, but the advertising on these Flea Markets bring many people to town.

I hope that now, with our new school being completed in the Hasbrouck Park, or McVey's as we called it in my time, that everything of some historic importance from the old schools, such as the school bell be preserved and perhaps displayed in the new school. When James Belefes bought the old School No. 13 in Port Ewen, the bell went with the sale. He had a customer for it immediately, and could have sold it for a good price, instead, he donated it to the Port Ewen School, and even had a structure made to have it in standing position and in ringing form. Robert Graves, principal of the new Port Ewen School, arranged a handsome display for it with a plaque in the front hall, where it is today.

Collectors and buyers are so varied and often, just in postal cards alone, some want only postal cards of the early days, showing trolley-cars and train

The Mormon story, with a cast of nearly 400, will be portrayed nightly, July 28 through Aug. 1, on a series of stages covering a vast hillside in the area called the "cradle" of Mormonism, where the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints had its beginnings nearly 150 years ago.

Take Me Out To . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball Yankees needed more people to attend their games. Taxi drivers deal with a lot of people who might be talked into going to a baseball game. So, the Yankees gave away 20,000 tickets to cab drivers to spur their interest in the club and presumably start talking it up to their passengers.

Liberals Have Not Decided on Senate Post Designation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton says he has been told by New York State Liberal party leaders that they have not taken a position for or against him or any other candidate for the United States Senate seat now held by Republican Kenneth Keating.

Stratton, of Amsterdam, said after a weekend meeting with the Liberal party leaders that they told him "they didn't intend to take any position until after the Democratic convention" in Atlantic City next month.

Stratton said there had been reports in the state that the Liberal party would not go along with his candidacy for the Senate.

Stratton aides claim for their man the support of at least 31 of the state's 62 Democratic county leaders.

Keating has not yet declared himself a candidate for re-election but is expected to do so.

Stratton said he had met with Dr. Timothy Costello, State Liberal party chairman, and Ben Davidson, executive director of that party.

Highway Fatalities Total 1,211 in 6-Month Period

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Highway accidents claimed a total of 1,211 lives in the first six months of this year, a 15 per cent increase over the first half of 1963.

The toll last month was 249 deaths, compared with 201 in June of last year.

The State Motor Vehicle Department said Sunday in announcing the figures that "the June 1964 record only worsened a picture that has grown increasingly gloomy with each successive month."

Appeal Is Made By NAACP for Respect by Guard

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The NAACP appealed to Gov. Rockefeller today to caution national guardsmen to approach residents of Rochester's trouble areas "with respect."

A telegram signed by Robert M. Morrison Jr., president of the Rochester branch of the NAACP, told the governor that "forcing the people to close their doors and windows in areas of congested and poorly ventilated housing is... an unnecessary further incitement of an already resentful population."

A spokesman for Morrison said the NAACP officials had based the telegram on a television show. They said guardsmen were shown ordering people to get off the street and telling them "close those windows, close those doors."

However, Lt. Col. G. C. Cole, who commanded a convoy that made a trip to the riot areas Sunday night, said that no guardsman alighted from his truck or communicated in any way with any of the residents. He said Morrison's telegram was based on erroneous information.

Thant, Johnson To Confer Aug. 6 On World Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, will confer here with President Johnson and high U.S. officials on Aug. 6, day.

The White House announced today a whole range of international issues stretching to all corners of the globe could come before the two leaders.

It only announced that Thant had accepted a presidential invitation for a one day visit to the capital, that he would spend the night at the official government residence, Blair House, and return to his New York headquarters the morning of Aug. 7.

OAS Clears . . .

ninth conference of foreign ministers of the Americas. Bolivia announced immediately it would respect the majority decision and Uruguay is expected to follow suit. Chile may do so if a Social Christian government is chosen in the September presidential elections.

Mexico denounced the censure to the Castro regime in speeches to the conference.

In addition, the foreign ministers issued a warning that if the Castro regime persists in carrying out acts of aggression and intervention against one or more OAS members, they may, singly or as a group, use armed force against Cuba.

Actual implementation of the actions must be carried out by the individual governments and it remains to be seen how far each will go in punitive steps.

Rapp Services Held

DARIEN, N.Y. (AP) — Memorial services were held today for former Genesee County Assemblyman Herbert A. Rapp, 73. He died July 24 after a long illness.

Rapp was Genesee's assemblyman for 15 years from 1932 to 1947.

25 Area Troopers Sent to Rochester To Aid Guardsmen

About 25 members of the State Police in the Kingston-Mid Hudson Valley area are among some 50 troopers in Troop C who have been sent to Rochester to augment police and National Guardsmen in the racial strife-torn city.

Louis B. Van Dyck, public relations officer for the State Police, said in Albany today that the deployment of troopers from the various troops throughout the state was of "relatively small impact" up to the present, and has resulted in more of an "inconvenience" to troop personnel and schedules. However, he said, there were some 400 troopers concentrated in that upstate city and the "sight of those National Guardsmen didn't hurt" in bringing riots activity to a minimum.

Meanwhile, other of the state's larger upstate cities braced themselves for possible uprisings. One official anticipated possible riots in Buffalo, while Syracuse reportedly had a weekend skirmish which failed to materialize into a full scale riot.

State Hospital

decision has been made in regard to the request.

The whole program was described by Dr. Pleasure as in the "preliminary stages", although it is said the state appears "favorably disposed" to consider the matter.

Residence for Patients
A "half-way house" is a place where patients reside when they have been discharged from the hospital and have no families or no place to go pending their acquiring a job.

Dr. Pleasure said these people were "selected patients who are well enough to leave the hospital" and need some assistance in getting a job.

The first intimation that a "half-way house" was being contemplated in Kingston came last May when a report was published on a hospital improvement grant of $86,000 to Middletown State Hospital for expanded rehabilitation work was presented at a meeting of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health board of directors held at George Washington School.

Fostered by Association
At that meeting Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president, read a report by the Middletown State Hospital which included the proposed establishment of a "half-way" house in Kingston.

It was brought out at the meeting that the Ulster County Association for Mental Health has worked hard toward this type of program since its inception, with public educational meetings and specialist speakers from the State Department of Rehabilitation and Middletown State Hospital, stressing the value of rehabilitation, and presenting the needs.

Two Brothers Die As Stalled Car Hit

FALCONER, N.Y. (AP)—Two brothers were fatally injured today when their stalled automobile was struck headon by another automobile on the Gerry-Levant Rd. near this Chautauqua County community.

Dead were Richard A. Colburn, 20, of Falconer and his brother, Harold 30, of Jamestown.

Police said the Colburn car was going up a hill when it stalled and rolled backwards, coming to a halt in the opposite lane. The Colburns got out and walked to the front of the car. Another auto came over the hill, police said, and crashed into the Colburn car, crushing the brothers against their car.

Soft Bulk, Fur Facing Prominent In Paris Clothes

PARIS (AP) — Soft bulk and fur facings characterized the two collections that got Paris fall and winter fashion showings started today.

Jacques Esterel drew from sheepskin flyovers' jackets for big-shouldered coats with jutting collars and "leather" seamings. Ferreras' look was slimmer, and seemed inspired by light, quilted Chinese costumes. He used many frog and toggle closings.

Fashion editors and buyers saw a show of new coiffures from leading Paris hair stylists during a boat trip on the Seine Sunday night.

In today's showings, Esterel did flyovers' coats in wide-wale beige corduroy, pink gabardine, white brocade, and pale blue suede. Devil-may-care mink collars jutted out from the evening numbers. Dresses underneath were slim, belted pullover sweater types.

Ferreras' look was essentially slim and tubular. Soft smock coats, shirred at the neck and shirt-cuffed sleeves were an exception. Dresses were belted sweater tunics in soft crepes, or skimpy stiff silk tubs, closest just under the bosom and flapping out in a tiny trumpet hem.

Both houses showed long-jacket suits. Esterel's were straight over low, floppy pleats. Ferreras' were more fitted, worn with slim skirts.

Flat bands of fur, beaver or mink were used in both collections. Esterel put fur cuffs and ruffs on his long-line sweater dresses and suits. Slim coats and jackets at Ferreras were completely outlined in fur bands, a fur-and-fabric handling that looked like classic sheepskin treatment. Ferreras even got the look of rolled-back fur facing out of reversible teal and turquoise wool.

For evening, Ferreras showed slim back-wrapped dresses, high in front, low in back. He has some one-shoulder models and lots of flirty ruffled edges.

George Washington U President Dies at 49

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Thomas H. Carroll, 49, president of George Washington University, died early today after an apparent heart attack near Bluemont, Va.

Friends reported Dr. Carroll, vacationing with his wife, had a heart attack several days ago and was stricken again early today.

Carroll became the 13th president of George Washington on May 3, 1961. Before coming to the university, he was vice president of the Ford Foundation.

Ranger 7 Craft Launching Slated On Trip to Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States is to launch the Ranger 7 spacecraft today on a quarter-million-mile journey to the moon to take thousands of pictures and hopefully end six years of frustration for American lunar shots.

An Atlas-Agena rocket is to blast skyward in a favorable launching period between 11:32 a.m. and 1:42 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Thunderstorms were forecast but officials hoped they would hold off until later in the day.

The flight plan called for the 806-pound spacecraft to execute several intricate maneuvers and crash-land on the moon Thursday morning after a 68½-hour, 230,992-mile trip.

Sixteen hours after launching, a ground station is to send a radio signal to fire a payload motor and jockey the craft into a collision course with the moon.

If Ranger 7 succeeds, it will break a string of 12 straight moon launching failures dating to 1958. The launching is the first American attempt since Ranger 6 failed to transmit pictures last February, although it hit the moon.

The record has seriously hindered the gathering of data for locating possible astronaut landing areas and for designing the Apollo spacecraft in which they will ride.

In a 13-minute, 40-second session before Ranger 7's lunar landing, its six television cameras are to snap more than 4,000 pictures and transmit them to Goldstone, Calif., for processing.

The cameras were geared to operate from an altitude of 1,120 miles to the moment before impact.

Space agency officials said the close-in photos might enable analysts to distinguish objects on the moon the size of an automobile. Astronomers using the best earth-based telescopes can't distinguish features much less than a mile in diameter.

Scientists hoped to maneuver Ranger 7 to an area west of the moon's center, on the left as seen from earth, where lighting is presently most favorable. The goal was to obtain pictures of Maria, large dark areas which appear to be relatively flat and thus possible astronaut landing spots.

The precise landing point is to be determined after Ranger 7 is airborne.

The spacecraft was fitted with two wide-angle cameras and four with narrow angles.

Won't Disclose Details of Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Relations Service will follow a policy of refusing to disclose details about any cases before it, a spokesman said today.

The agency confirmed that it received over the weekend a school integration case in St. Helena Parish in Louisiana. This is the only case that has been referred to the agency by a federal judge, although it is not the first request for assistance.

LeRoy Collins, director of the CRS, said last week that information the agency receives in a racial dispute will be treated as confidential, and this apparently also will apply to any recommendations the agency makes.

In cases referred to it by a federal judge, the agency plans to let the judge decide whether its recommendations are to be made public.

The CRS was established by the Civil Rights Act.

Charge Man Was Drunk

Mrs. Thomas Hoffman of Route 4, Box 313, Hickorybush, reported at 4:30 p.m. Saturday that a man was creating a disturbance in the vicinity. He was charged with public intoxication and will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace Daniel J. McMonagle of Town of Rosendale later today.

Decision Reserved

Decision was reserved until Aug. 5 by Special City Judge Bernard A. Feeney Jr., after preliminary hearing Monday of a second degree assault charge against John Scully, 55, of 72 Garden Street. Scully was booked on the charge by Detective Gurnsey Burger at police headquarters June 22. It is alleged that he had inflicted a knife wound on the right forearm of Richard J. Krum Jr., of 3 Lawrence Street, Yonkers. Attorney Charles J. Saccamano appeared for him in court Monday.

Litter Jam

NEW YORK (AP) — This year's highway litter, if laid end to end, would create the world's record traffic jam.

In fact, it would bring all traffic to a dead stop on the 3,000 mile route between New York and San Francisco, reports Keep America Beautiful, the national anti-litter organization.

Keep America Beautiful says the rubbish that will be dumped on U.S. streets and highways in 1964, if concentrated, would bury the transcontinental route a foot deep in discarded cartons, paper bags, chewing gum and candy wrappers, garbage, cans, bottles and such assorted trash as old mattresses and automotive parts.

Appeal Is Made By NAACP for Respect by Guard

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The NAACP appealed to Gov. Rockefeller today to caution national guardsmen to approach residents of Rochester's trouble areas "with respect."

A telegram signed by Robert M. Morrison Jr., president of the Rochester branch of the NAACP, told the governor that "forcing the people to close their doors and windows in areas of congested and poorly ventilated housing is an unnecessary further incitement of an already resentful population."

A spokesman for Morrison said the NAACP officials had based the telegram on a television show. They said guardsmen were shown ordering people to get off the street and telling them "close those windows, close those doors."

However, Lt. Col. G. C. Cole, who commanded a convoy that made a trip to the riot areas Sunday night, said that no guardsman alighted from his truck or communicated in any way with any of the residents.

He said Morrison's telegram was based on erroneous information.

OAS Clears . . .

ninth conference of foreign ministers of the Americas.

Bolivia announced immediately it would respect the majority decision and Uruguay is expected to follow suit. Chile may do so if a Social Christian government is chosen in the September presidential elections.

Mexico denounced the censure to the Castro regime in speeches to the conference.

In addition, the foreign ministers issued a warning that if the Castro regime persists in carrying out acts of aggression and intervention against one or more OAS members, they may, singly or as a group, use armed force against Cuba.

Actual implementation of the actions must be carried out by the individual governments and it remains to be seen how far each will go in punitive steps.

25 Area Troopers Sent to Rochester To Aid Guardsmen

About 25 members of the State Police in the Kingston-Mid Hudson Valley area are among some 50 troopers in Troop C who have been sent to Rochester to augment police and National Guardsmen in the racial strife-torn city.

Louis B. Van Dyck, public relations officer for the State Police, said in Albany today that the deployment of troopers from the various troops throughout the state was of "relatively small impact" up to the present, and has resulted in more of an "inconvenience" to troop personnel and schedules. However, he said, there were some 400 troopers concentrated in that upstate city and the "sight of those National Guardsmen didn't hurt" in bringing riots activity to a minimum.

Meanwhile, other of the state's larger upstate cities banded themselves for possible uprisings. One official anticipated possible riots in Buffalo, while Syracuse reportedly had a weekend skirmish which failed to materialize into a full scale riot.

State Hospital

decision has been made in regard to the request.

The whole program was described by Dr. Pleasure as in the "preliminary stages", although it is said the state appears "favorably disposed" to consider the matter.

Residence for Patients
A "half-way house" is a place where patients reside when they have been discharged from the hospital and have no families or no place to go pending their acquiring a job.

Dr. Pleasure said these people were "selected patients who are well enough to leave the hospital" and need some assistance in getting a job.

The first intimation that a "half-way house" was being contemplated in Kingston came last May when a report was published on a hospital improvement grant of $86,000 to Middletown State Hospital for expanded rehabilitation work was presented at a meeting of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health board of directors held at George Washington School.

Fostered by Association
At that meeting Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president, read a report by the Middletown State Hospital which included the proposed establishment of a "half-way" house in Kingston.

It was brought out at the meeting that the Ulster County Association for Mental Health has worked hard toward this type of program since its inception, with public educational meetings and specialist speakers from the State Department of Rehabilitation and Middletown State Hospital, stressing the value of rehabilitation, and presenting the needs.

Two Brothers Die As Stalled Car Hit

FALCONER, N.Y. (AP) — Two brothers were fatally injured today when their stalled automobile was struck head-on by another automobile on the Gerry-Levant Rd. near this Chautauque County community.

Dead were Richard A. Colburn, 20, of Falconer and his brother, Harold 30, of Jamestown.

Police said the Colburn car was going up a hill when it stalled and rolled backwards, coming to a halt in the opposite lane. The Colburns got out and walked to the front of the car. Another auto came over the hill, police said, and crashed into the Colburn car, crushing the brothers against their car.

Soft Bulk, Fur Facing Prominent In Paris Clothes

PARIS (AP) — Soft bulk and fur facings characterized the two collections that got Paris fall and winter fashion showings started today.

Jacques Esterel drew from sheepskin flyers' jackets for big-shouldered coats with jutting collars and "leather" seamings. Ferrera's look was slimmer, and seemed inspired by light, quilted Chinese costumes. He used many frog and toggle closings.

Fashion editors and buyers saw a show of new coiffures from leading Paris hair stylists during a boat trip on the Seine Sunday night.

In today's showings, Esterel did flyers' coats in wide-awake beige corduroy, pink gabardine, white brocade, and pale blue suede. Devil-may-care mink collars jutted out from the evening numbers. Dresses, underworn with slim skirts.

Ferrera's look was essentially a line and tubular. Soft smock coats, shirred at the neck and shirt-cuffed sleeves were an exception. Dresses were belted sweater tunics in soft crepes, or skimpy stiff silk tubs, closest just under the bosom and flapping out in a tiny trumpet hem.

Both houses showed long-jacket suits. Esterel's were straight over low, floppy pleats. Ferrera's were more fitted, worn with slim skirts.

Flat bands of fur, beaver or mink were used in both collections. Esterel put fur cuffs and ruffs on his long-line sweater dresses and suits. Slim coats and jackets at Ferrera's were completely outlined in fur bands, a fur-and-fabric handling that looked like classic sheepskin treatment. Ferrera's even got the look of rolled-back fur facing out of reversible teal and turquoise wool.

For evening, Ferrera's showed slim black ruffled dresses, high in front, low in back. He has some one-shoulder models and lots of flirty ruffled edges.

George Washington U President Dies at 49

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Thomas H. Carroll, 49, president of George Washington University, died early today after an apparent heart attack near Belmont, Va.

Friends reported Dr. Carroll, vacationing with his wife, had a heart attack several days ago and was stricken again early today.

Carroll became the 13th president of George Washington on May 3, 1961. Before coming to the university, he was vice president of the Ford Foundation.

Ranger 7 Craft Launching Slated On Trip to Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States is to launch the Ranger 7 spacecraft today on a quarter-million-mile journey to the moon to take thousands of pictures and hopefully end six years of frustration for American lunar shots.

An Atlas-Agena rocket is to blast skyward in a favorable launching period between 11:32 a.m. and 1:42 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Thunderstorms were forecast but officials hoped they would hold off until later in the day.

The flight plan called for the 806-pound spacecraft to execute several intricate maneuvers and crash-land on the moon Thursday morning after a 68½-hour, 230,992-mile trip.

Sixteen hours after launching, a ground station is to send a radio signal to fire a payload motor and jockey the craft into a collision course with the moon.

If Ranger 7 succeeds, it will break a string of 12 straight moon launching failures dating to 1958. The launching is the first American attempt since Ranger 6 failed to transmit pictures last February, although it hit the moon.

The record has seriously hindered the gathering of data for locating possible astronaut landing areas and for designing the Apollo spacecraft in which they will ride.

In a 13-minute, 40-second session before Ranger 7's lunar landing, its six television cameras are to snap more than 4,000 pictures and transmit them to Goldstone, Calif., for processing.

The cameras were geared to operate from an altitude of 1,120 miles to the moment before impact.

Space agency officials said the close-in photos might enable analysts to distinguish objects on the moon the size of an automobile. Astronomers using the best earth-based telescopes can't distinguish features much less than a mile in diameter.

Scientists hoped to maneuver Ranger 7 to an area west of the moon's center, on the left as seen from earth, where lighting is most favorable. The goal was to obtain pictures of lunar, large dark areas which appear to be relatively flat and thus possible astronaut landing spots.

The precise landing point is to be determined after Ranger 7 is airborne. The spacecraft was fitted with two wide-angle cameras and four with narrow angles.

Won't Disclose Details of Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Relations Service will follow a policy of refusing to disclose details about any cases before it, a spokesman said today.

The agency confirmed that it received over the weekend a school integration case in St. Helena Parish in Louisiana.

This is the only case that has been referred to the agency by a federal judge, although it is not the first request for assistance.

LeRoy Collins, director of the CRS, said last week that information the agency receives in a racial dispute will be treated as confidential, and this apparently also will apply to any recommendations the agency makes.

In cases referred to it by a federal judge, the agency plans to let the judge decide whether its recommendations are to be made public.

The CRS was established by the Civil Rights Act.

Litter Jam

NEW YORK (AP) — This year's highway litter, if laid end to end, would create the world's record traffic jam.

In fact, it would bring all traffic to a dead stop on the 3,000 mile route between New York and San Francisco, reports Keep America Beautiful, the national anti-litter organization.

Keep America Beautiful says the rubbish that will be dumped on U.S. streets and highways in 1964, if concentrated, would bury the transcontinental route a foot deep in discarded cartons, paper bags, chewing gum and candy wrappers, garbage, cans, bottles and such assorted trash as old mattresses and automotive parts.

Gotham, Rochester Riots Bring Out New Breed of Negro Youths

EDITOR'S NOTE—The nation has often seen disciplined, well-behaved Negro youths take part in civil rights demonstrations. But the riots in New York and Rochester have brought a different breed to the fore: Young men who heed no leader, follow no banner, and seem to despise non-violence. Here is a closeup of the hard ones.

By BERNARD GAUVER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An exhausted fireman felled by heavy smoke was wheeled from a flaming house in Rochester's riot-wrecked Negro section.

"He should have got burned up long ago," a Negro boy said. Here in the brilliant sunshine of a Sunday afternoon the boy and hundreds of other Negroes had watched a gruesome drama.

A helicopter being used to spot potential riot activity had hit the peaked gable of the frame house, fallen to the sidewalk, exploded and burned. The white pilot was killed. Two persons in the house, presumably Negroes, burned to death.

For some in the crowd, the spectacle was sickening and sobering. They were mainly older people. A minister, a chef, a mechanic. But the young fellows, the lean and well-muscled teen-agers and men in their early 20s, shed no tears.

Their attitude throughout rioting that began Friday night has been one of militant recklessness. There is a bravado to them—and the chill quality of boys who have begun to believe that life is a one way road to death and they are on it, put there by white men.

Parallel Groups

The role of young Negroes in Rochester parallels that of those who met police in hand-to-hand battle in Harlem and in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

"There's a don't care attitude about these boys," said Ernest Denny, a Negro social worker. "They're saying to the white society, 'You're going to kill me psychologically if I live, so why not kill me with bullets?'"

"The thing is that they are not afraid. These are brave boys."

"They have lost respect for authority," said Lt. Andrew Sparacino, head of the Rochester Police Department's youth division.

Boys and young men from the major Negro areas in town voiced bitter resentment of whites, especially of the police, and talked with a belligerent straightforwardness.

"Man, there ain't no cat going to frighten me," said a youth of 19. "They kicked that out of me when they kicked hell out of me one time when they busted a crap game. They grabbed the dough and then used the clubs."

A boy of 14 who wore a wrist wound proudly, said: "We are just different. My mama and pa, if it was up to them, would of locked me in the house last night. They scared. But they old and old peoples get scared. I went out and I stayed out. I didn't make it back home to maybe 4 o'clock in the morning. But nobody going to tell me what to do."

A young man of 20 bristled over the 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew imposed upon the city. "The man comes on TV and he say all you people got to go to bed at 8 o'clock and not stick your nose out the house. Hell, that just make the people be on the street. You think we afraid to go out? Man, we was out."

Have Lost Faith

Lloyd Hurst, a Negro who is commissioner of Rochester's office of the State Commission for Human Relations, said, "The young element—the new Negro—is in Rochester as well as in Harlem and elsewhere in the United States. They have lost faith in the ordinary forms of settlement of grievances."

Reginald Kenneth Ingram, the Negro chief of the Air Force's Equal Employment Opportunity Office, said, "If I were to try to say to these boys that they should act with caution or even try to advise them in any way, I'm certain that I would be booted."

The boys showed how willing they were to flex muscles Friday night at the street dance when patrolmen Roger Bacon and Anthony Cerretto attempted to arrest a disorderly young man.

"We ended up on the ground with the guy, putting the cuffs on him," said Cerretto. "The crowd wanted him and they got between us."

Start of Riot

Fifty or more young men pushed in to keep the handcuffed youth from being taken to the police station. It was this incident that started the riot.

Sparacino, the youth division expert, knows by sight most of the city's juvenile delinquents and other young offenders.

"But to tell you the truth," he said, "these are kids I've never seen before. They're not the usual juvenile delinquents. I don't know where they come from. I know one we got in a good high school and another is an athlete in high school."

"It's the system they are fighting, baby," explains Denny. "The boys feel the system is against them, and it is."

It was difficult for some of the Negro boys to articulate their feelings, but one, a rather thin boy who looked like he could be a chorus dancer, said: "It's like you're standing and across the way there is that store and the cats is saying, 'Let's go eat on whitey,' or 'Whitey, he going to give me a birthday suit, man.' We laughing and pushing and talking big."

"Doing it is knowing that the fuzz is coming. I mean any cat can reach in for a bunch a bananas if the Girl Scouts is watching, but the thing is, will you do it when you know the po-lease is just around the corner and coming."

"It's like you got to make the scene or the chicks will put you down as nothin'. I mean, you got to go. Ya dig?"

More Guardsmen In Riot-Stricken Rochester Today

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—More national guardsmen arrived in this riot-stricken city today as state and local law enforcement officers sought to restore order.

Gov. Rockefeller ordered three national guard units into the city Sunday on what was emphasized as a standby basis. The governor vowed that "law and order will be maintained."

His office said the approximately 1,000 troops had been ordered only to stand by to supplement the more than 1,000 police already on the scene.

Rockefeller, who said he acted at the request of the mayor of Rochester and the sheriff of Monroe County, said in a statement:

"The national guard forces will be available to assist the state and local police in keeping order and in coping with any renewal of the tactics of looting and wanton destruction of property by marauding bands of rioters."

Sunday night, in a show of force, 12 truckloads of helmeted guardsmen equipped with unloaded rifles and bayonets made a 40-minute ride through a section of the trouble area.

In addition to the 209th Artillery Battalion from here, other units were the first and second battalions of the 108th Infantry.

Young Boy Lost In Yosemite Park Survives Ordeal

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP)—"I was worried some of the time, but I was never scared," said a 10-year-old city boy who survived eight days without food in a rugged wilderness area of Yosemite National Park.

"I thought someone would find me. I knew they were looking for me when I saw a helicopter fly overhead."

Once-chubby John Ireland Jr. of Los Angeles lived on water and his own body fat as he wandered in the mountainous terrain where nighttime temperatures ranged in the high 30s.

He lost 15 pounds during the ordeal — his weight dropped from 103 to 86—but doctors said his condition was good.

"It's amazing," said one doctor. "He had nothing but water. The boy is talking, and you'd hardly know he had taken a hike."

Young John wandered away from his family's trailer at Hadden Lake campsite July 18 wearing only a thin T-shirt, jeans and leather shoes.

Rangers Gil Hall and Jim Reilly found him Saturday afternoon about three miles from the camp. About 350 men had joined in an air and ground search.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ireland, had lost hope and were getting ready to break camp and return home when they learned that John had been found.

"I'm hungry," were his first words to his parents. The boy had lost so much weight that he had to hold his pants up."

John told of his adventure from a bed in Lewis Memorial Hospital in Yosemite.

"As soon as I knew I was lost, I sat down and started making plans for getting home," he said. "I was worried some of the time, but I was never scared."

19 Die in Bus Mishap

EPINAL, France (AP)—A bus carrying a French folk-dancing troupe crashed through a bridge guard rail and dropped 30 feet onto a railway track early today, killing 19 persons and injuring eight.

The performers had taken part in a European folklore festival at Senones, in eastern France. They were returning to their homes in the Perpignan region, on the Mediterranean coast.

No Sweet Tooth

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—While the Swiss are world-renowned as producers of fine chocolates, they lag far behind the British and Americans when it comes to eating sweets. Figures indicate that per capita consumption of candy per week is higher in England, at 225 grams, than in all other European nations. Americans consume 140 grams weekly, Danes 115 grams, and the Swiss? A mere 90 grams weekly.

Plans One-Party System

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta says he plans to move Kenya toward a one-party system.

Kenyatta returned Sunday from the African summit conference in Cairo and told a cheering rally that the one-party system makes for "faster national progress."

His Kenya African National Union-KANU—party has a 2-1 majority over the opposition Kenya African Democratic Union—KADU—in the National Assembly.

Would Trade With Enemy

MONT GABRIEL, Que. (AP)—The Canadian-American Assembly says Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. firms should be allowed to trade with Cuba and Red China.

The assembly Sunday night recommended changes in U.S. laws prohibiting trade with an enemy.

The assembly, sponsored by Columbia University and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, brought together businessmen, politicians, labor leaders, educators and clergymen from both countries for a three-day meeting.

Canada trades with both Cuba and Red China. Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. firms, a cornerstone of the Canadian economy, do not trade with either Havana or Peking because of the U.S. law.

Heal Injury?

Play ball! Ten-year-old Jim is out on the field. Whack—the crack of bat against ball. Thud—blackness. Jim's been hit. He lies still—out.

What's going on inside Jim's injured head? Tissues, damaged by the impact of the heavy baseball, have begun to swell. Injured blood vessels are slowly discharging blood into his brain. No wonder Jim has gone into shock and lost consciousness. Whether there's a skull fracture remains to be determined.

A doctor and an ambulance have been called. What to do in the meantime? Most likely, nothing. Jim is best off lying flat on his back, head resting on a very low pillow or other soft object. Anybody who gets the bright idea of "slapping him awake," and tries it, deserves to be slapped silly. What Jim needs right now is to be kept warm, comfortable, undisturbed.

If not ambulance or doctor proves handy and Jim simply has to be moved, best way to do it is with the aid of a stretcher and with the least possible movement of head and body. Bedded down at home, he should be kept quiet without a pillow—or with a very low one.

Jim's head injury, resulting in hemorrhage and shock, is on the more severe side. Children's head injuries are often a lot less troublesome than Jim's. At their mildest, only a simple concussion is involved; the victim is as good as new after a brief period of unconsciousness or just grogginess.

However, your Christmas Seal association offers this word of caution; even a mild head injury shouldn't be neglected. Especially in a child, whose skull hasn't yet developed the thick bone structure of the adult. Anyone hit but not knocked out should lie down immediately and get looked over by a doctor as soon as possible.

Tony Curtis Says To Remain Young Raise Big Family

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—

Tony Curtis' prescription for staying young: Have children to brighten your middle years.

This might be the enthusiasm of a new father; his wife, Christine Kaufman, recently gave birth to their first child, a daughter.

"Look at her!" exclaimed Tony. "Have you ever seen such a beautiful baby? You know how most babies have wrinkled faces? Look at this one. Not a single wrinkle."

After his burst of paternal pride had simmered down, Tony philosophized about future plans for his family.

"I want to have three or four more children. I want to have them keep coming as I get older, and I'll spend all the time I can with them. I also will work out an arrangement whereby I can have my other two daughters (by Janet Leigh) for two or three months of the year, and maybe take them to Europe with me."

"What a great way to stay young! If you're with your children a great deal, play with them, learn with them, their youth is bound to rub off on you."

This may come as a surprise to those parents who say their children are pushing them into an early grave. But Tony may have a point. And, unlike some film stars, he does not appear to be overly concerned about encroaching age.

In fact, he is the only star I recall who not only figures his age accurately, but in halves.

"Right now I'm 38½," he remarked. "At that age most men have completed their families. I'm lucky to have a wife who is young enough (19) to go on having children until I'm an old man."

He didn't say whether Christine has been consulted on this matter. But he did report that the German lass is delighted with motherhood.

Tony Curtis is a fellow who does a lot of theorizing about the future, not only for his family, but for his career. He views the latter reality. Even though he appears to be one of Hollywood's busiest stars, he makes no predictions about how long he can last in the business.

"The competition is terrific. It's amazing that television hasn't already knocked off the movies. But television isn't the only competitor. We've got to fight everything else for the entertainment dollar, from baseball to bowling."

"That means an actor has to keep on his toes all the time. The trouble is, you never know when you're slipping. You might think you're going along fine, and suddenly you wake up one morning and find you're in a television series."

It will never happen to him, Tony vowed. As soon as he detects the first signs of slippage, he intends to quit.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Central air conditioning for pigs is the latest gleam in the eye of the environmental control engineer.

He says it will give you better porkchops.

He adds that it will cut the farmer's feed bills by letting the pigs get better faster without making hogs of themselves.

Bigger Eggs, Too

This type of engineer also says that a dairyman who plays it cool will get a lot more milk in hot weather.

A pre-chilled nest can fool a hen into laying more eggs. What's more they'll be bigger eggs with stronger shells. Since small eggs and thin shells affect the hatching and survival of young chicks, the poultry raiser could pare a bit off his dollar losses in the usual summer slump in egg production.

Young calves also slow down in gaining weight when the temperature goes to 80 degrees or higher. It's been doing that with great regularity in many places most of this summer.

All of this selling pitch, the engineer thinks, will woo many an animal raiser within the next five years and make barns and chicken houses year-around comfortable havens at steadily lowering costs.

Advice Is Heeded

Pig raisers are already heeding them, according to the environmental control engineers at General Electric. And this has led to some figures on how a pig reacts to heat and to controlled temperatures.

At temperatures of 60 and 70 degrees, a well-adjusted pig will gain more than 1½ pounds a day on 3½ pounds of feed. At around 90 degrees the same animal for some reason wants to eat more than 6 pounds, and gains about 1 pound in weight.

The engineer reasons that the cooler pig will produce top grade bacon, ham and pork products at lower feed cost, and therefore offer lower prices to the consumer.

Also the hot months adversely affect the fertility rate of swine, the size of their litters, and even the quality of the pork chop.

Pigs can be a problem other ways, too. The mortality rates of the young are among the highest among domestic animals. At the Borden Co. they say they have a system to counteract that.

Hope for Consume.

Pigs are taken from the mother just before normal birth time while they're still disease free, and put in isolation units and brooders until four weeks old. That, of course, calls for a special feed formula. And the scientists there claim it all but eliminates the mortality rate that can run as high as 40 percent in an unimpoverished litter. The special formula has nutritional value similar to sow's milk and is used by some farmers to replace cow's milk formulas they've used to ward off pig diseases.

And makers of feed supplements are just as sure as the environment control engineers that they can raise milk output, put more weight on beef cattle, fatten chicken drumsticks and get more eggs out of a hen. They, too, have scientific theories to quote.

The consumer? Well, he has promises of better food, and can hope for lower prices, as such human niceties as air conditioning and fortified foods are extended further among the animal population.

From time to time readers want to know why bridge columns neglect part-score hands in favor of more sensational games and slams. There is a good reason for this neglect. Part-score hands are not only likely to be of little interest to many readers but, in addition, they are far harder to write about.

South holds off a couple of spade leads but has to win the third. He wants to attack either diamonds or clubs and should start with the clubs because he can certainly develop two club tricks even though he will lose two club tricks in the process.

He would like to lead clubs from dummy, but there is only one entry to dummy and he may need that later. Hence he starts by leading the king of clubs.

If East wins that trick he will have to lead something back and probably will select a diamond. South will finesse the ten and knock West's queen. West will cash his last spade, but at this point South will have time to knock out the queen of clubs and make his two club tricks. After that South will finesse successfully against the king of diamonds and make his contract.

Should East duck the first club and West win with the second club lead the chances are that West would attack hearts after cashing his good spade. This would spoil South's timing and he would never get around to making that second diamond trick.

'La Boheme' Opens Friday at Woodstock As Turnau Players' Third Production

The Turnau Opera Players' third production of the current season, Puccini's La Boheme, opened Friday evening in Byrdcliffe Theatre, Woodstock. Although excellent, this was not the best performance of the season—Abduction from the Seraglio and Turk in Italy were both superior—but it was the most successful as an audience pleaser.

On Dean's List At Boston University

MISS NANCY LEE DEAN

Named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Boston University is Miss Nancy Lee Dean, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Dean of 45 West Chestnut Street.

Miss Dean received her Bachelor of Science degree in elementary education during commencement exercises June 7. She has accepted a position as third grade teacher with the Snug Harbor School in the Quincy School System at Quincy, Mass.

Part of the credit for this should go to the composer, of course, but good singing and acting also had something to do with it.

The leading soprano role, that of Mimi, was sung by Lorine Buffington. Carolyn Heafner will alternate with Miss Buffington in this part. This was Miss Buffington's debut as a prima donna (in any company) and it was a personal triumph for her. She was weak only in the first scene and improved steadily after that. We were most impressed with her power, intonation and musicianship in the third act—at the gates of the city. As an actress, Miss Buffington was completely involved and convincing in her characterization of the pitiable heroine.

The tenor, Gene Bullard, has the right kind of voice for the male lead, Rodolfo, and used it well—some of the time. He was at his best when he opened up his high notes and let them ring. The other parts were beautifully sung—Musetta by Lucille Sullam with shattering brilliance and her usual reliable intonation, Marcello by Ted Lambrinos, Schenard by Jack Davis and Colline by Franklin Summers. Mr. Lambrinos, in particular, has a hearty voice and acts well. We like Mr. Summers' farewell to his overcoat.

Something should have been done to increase the resonance of the pianos. And please—may we have snowflakes in the third act? (Reviewed by Victor Landau).

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladiolus and green palms. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a cream ivory poile de seau fashioned with empire waist, scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. Bodice was appliqued with romanesque, sheath skirt and terminated in a train attached to the waist. Her romanesque headpiece was fastened to a pillbox with cream ivory tulle. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Constance Ambrose, the bride's sister. She wore a gown of floor-length pink organza with empire bodice.

Phyllis was styled with a scoop neckline, short puff sleeves with a dark green velvet bow highlighted by long ribbons for the empire band. A full bouffant veil was attached to her matching pink-rose headpiece. She carried bouquets of green ivory scattered with pink rosebuds.

Q: My husband and I are invited to a friend's house next Saturday to play bridge. This date was made two weeks ago and I completely forgot about it. In the meantime, another friend called me on the telephone and I invited her and her husband to dinner at our house for the same evening. What do I do or tell? Do I cancel our bridge date or tell the Browns we can't have them for dinner?

A: You must keep the first invitation which you accepted and you will have to call the Browns and explain why you can't have them to dinner and invite them for some other evening.

No Invitations But Many Announcements

Q: My wedding is to be private with only the immediate families and a few closest relatives invited. Consequently we are sending no engraved invitations but many announcements. Is it necessary, or even proper, to send announcements to my friends who know of my forthcoming marriage, or are they sent only to those who do not know of my marriage?

A: Announcements are sent to both your fiancé's friends and relatives who are not invited to the wedding whether they know of your marriage or not.

Referring to Her Husband

Q: When speaking of my husband to my son's young friends—19 to 21 age bracket—I refer to him as Mr. Jones. My son thinks this sounds very "snobby" and that I should refer to him by his given name, Bill. Your opinion, please.

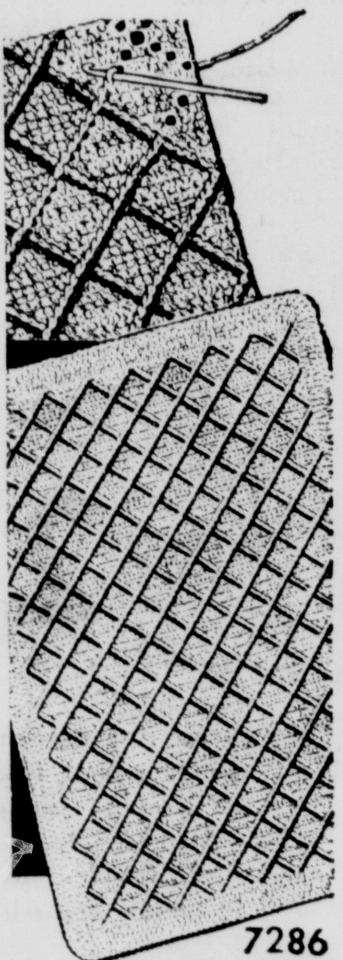

A: Correctly, you refer to him as "my husband" or as "John's father."

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, submits the following article on selecting an automatic washer:

One out of every 10 households in the United States boasted a new automatic washer in 1961. This means that consumers spent $\frac{1}{4}$ of a Billion dollars for automatic washers in one year!

Selecting an automatic washer is not a simple matter. We still have only two types—the front loading and top loading models—but partly because of new developments in textile fibers and finishes, washer manufacturers are giving us more choices of cycles and features.

Since the competition is keen among manufacturers of laundry equipment, it will pay you to look around if you're in the market for a new washer.

THE PRICE TAG—One of our first concern in buying any piece of equipment is the price tag. More than likely you have a limit above which you cannot or should not go. Buying "on time" may make the payments easier, but the credit charges will add considerably to your price tag.

The lower priced models in each manufacturer's line usually will give you the basic necessities—washing, rinsing, and spin-drying the bulk of the family wash-load. If you are interested in good performance without the extras, you can find this among these "stripped-down" economy models. You'll have fewer choices of cycles, fewer of the automatic features, but good service.

CYCLES—Examine the control panel to see what cycles are represented. You'll want to know how many settings are available, especially for unusual fabrics or soil. You have many choices, the number often closely tied to the price tag. Economy models offer fewer choices deluxe models more.

What kinds of clothes do you usually have in your washer loads? Are there some rough-and-tumble preschoolers, or some grease monkeys in your family? Do you normally wash mostly cottons and only a few synthetics? If so, you need a washer for heavy duty, but not necessarily one that offers special soil. An economy model may be the answer for you.

If your family is the white-collar type, that uses finer fabrics with only light soil, you may need a washer that offers a variety of cycles, temperatures, and speeds. This more deluxe washer will make a bigger hole in your budget, but it will give you more choices with automatic controls.

For additional information, write your Home Demonstration Department, 220 Wall Street, U.P.O. Box 545, Kingston, N. Y. for Bulletin 51, "Choosing and Using Your Automatic Washer."

MRS. WALTER H. PATMORE

Gladys Munger, Walter Patmore Are Wed In Double Ring Ceremony, St. Augustine's

Miss Gladys Martha Munger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Munger of Orange Street, Marlboro exchanged marriage vows July 19 with Walter Henry Patmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Riccabene of Highland.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles Walsh officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place 3 p. m. in St. Augustine Church. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk peau de soie gown trimmed with alencon lace and fashioned with a sabrina neckline with a bell shaped skirt terminating in a cathedral train at the back of her waistline of roses. Her fingertip four tier veil of French illusion silk was fastened to a headpiece of silk peau de soie trimmed with pearls.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Eileen Rizzo of Highland. Bridesmaids included the Misses Anita Waber and Matili Bordi. Flower girl was the bride's sister, Christina Munger. The attendants carried pink and white carnations. Flower girl carried rose petals.

Best man was George Rizzo of Highland. Ushers included Jules Patmore, the bridegroom's brother and Paul Munger, brother of the bride. Martin Riccabene was child ringbearer. A reception for approximately 100 guests was held at the Capri in Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to the South, the bride chose a green crepe sleeveless dress with round neck and white accessories as her traveling ensemble.

A graduate of Highland High School, the bride is working as a secretary at New York State University, College of New Paltz.

Also a Highland High School alumnus, the bridegroom is employed in the services department by International Business Machines Corp.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I missed the point of what you recently wrote about putting a room between quarreling children and calling it the Pacific Ocean. I don't want to miss it, because my boys, 10 and 12, fight so bitterly. I have strong ideas about family loyalty and have tried so hard to teach them that brothers should stand together. I believe that it is parents' responsibility to instill mutual affection in their children, and I have failed to . . .

ANSWER: My point in plain words is: parents must disconnect themselves from their children's feelings toward each other.

Disconnection from your kids' resentment of each other is what you want. You can't make it because the notion of such detachment conflicts with your notion that you have to "instill" mutual affection in them. I am now going to disarrange your moral furniture. So take me easy.

Those of us who undertake to "instill" brotherly love in children invariably think of ourselves as especially moral or religious. We are not. We just revel so in our feeling of virtuous allegiance to God that we cannot see we have undertaken His work. When we fail to develop brotherly loyalty in our children, we can either choose to welter in our discouragement and grief, or we can use these emotions as discipline of our arrogance.

We can begin to perceive that it is not our business to create "love" in other human beings. Love is in people to be developed by time and growth. Bowing our heads before the mystery of life, we should quit trying to manipulate and control it.

You've made a botch of God's business by trying to manage it for Him.

Once we're clear on the difference between us and God, we lose all sense of obligation to direct the unfolding of our youngsters' brotherly love. When they start squabbling, we let it go on until it bores us. Then, we say "Stop it. John, go into the living room and stay there until you settle down. Buddy, come into the kitchen with me."

It is when we can be delighted with the difference between us and God that gaiety enters our treatment of fighting children and we can say, "O.K., you scrappers, the dining room between you is the Himalayas. Don't try to climb them. When you've settled down, I'll get out daddy's old travel magazine with pictures of the Himalayas and a man who climbed one. But for now, do what you're told."

Daffy Daffodils

HOBART, Tasmania (AP)—A member of the Tasmanian parliament who didn't want to sell daffodil bulbs is now exporting them to England, the Netherlands, the United States, Japan, New Zealand and all parts of Australia.

Several years ago William Jackson wrote an article on daffodils for the London Horticulture Society's Year Book. He began to get inquiries about some rare pink daffodils he'd mentioned. Not wanting to sell any, Jackson put a high price on the flowers—$11.20 per bulb. He sold 10 in no time and business has continued to boom.

How to Have a Miserable Vacation

1. Don't let the cat out.
2. Take a chance on paper thin tires.
3. Don't bother making reservations.
4. Don't stop the paper or the milk.
5. Leave the water running in the bath tub.
6. Stay out in the sun too long the first day.
7. FORGET TO CHECK YOUR INSURANCE COVERAGE ON YOUR PROPERTY AND CAR.

It is a lot easier to have peace of mind when you have a check list of things to do, and above all

Senate Leaders Hope for Victory On Foreign Aid

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hope to hand President Johnson another victory this week by passing his $3.4-billion foreign aid authorization bill without major changes.

But their chances of matching last week's performance, when they put through the administration's high-priority anti-poverty bill, are threatened by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Morse, who has been gunning for the bill for weeks, has a flock of amendments ready, aimed at trimming it by $466 million. He says it could take a week to dispose of them.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, predicts passage this week without any "crippling cuts."

Before it can get into the foreign aid fight the Senate must dispose of a resolution growing out of the investigation of the financial dealings of Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democrats. The resolution would require senators and Senate employees to make annual disclosure of their incomes.

It may have been disposed of Friday night when the Senate voted to create a permanent bipartisan committee to police the conduct of senators and Senate employees.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the action had taken "a lot of steam" out of the disclosure resolution. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said it had made the resolution unnecessary.

Mansfield, who hopes to complete the Senate's business before the Democratic National Convention starts in Atlantic City on Aug. 24, has two appropriations bills ready for action this week in case the foreign aid bill is finished up early. They would appropriate $46.7 billion for the Defense Department and $210.3 million to run Congress.

House action this week centers on two bills, one increasing Social Security benefits and raising the tax that supports them, and the other creating a national wilderness system.

House leaders hope to clear the anti-poverty bill for floor action next week. It comes up for a vote in the Rules Committee Tuesday. That's the last legislative chore left for the House except for final action on the money bills after the Senate passes them.

Illustrious Panel To Jury Recent Workshop Here

George Segal comes to Woodstock July 31. He is the talk of the art world and the reading public with the lifelike figures he creates out of plaster. In Woodstock, together with Roy Gussow of the Borgnecht Gallery and Manuel Bromberg of the World House Galleries, they form an illustrious panel to jury the Recent Work Show of the Woodstock Artists Association at the Woodstock Art Gallery, opening July 31.

The same evening the three will hold a Round Table Discussion called, "Two in the Round and One in Relief." Since Segal's life sized figures are placed in a natural environment, Gussow's outdoor sculptures have an architectural background, and Bromberg's murals in relief fit into the interior design of the huge new buildings, this should be a stimulating discussion.

George Segal began as an abstract painter but switched to plaster to catch the characteristics of the people around him, bus drivers, waitresses, gas station attendants etc. He then created the proper environment into which he fitted the stark white figures. The life sized groups created much attention here and abroad.

These environmental arrangements in homes, in museum, especially in the Green Gallery in New York, in Paris, in Brazil increased both demand and fame.

The association feels very fortunate to be able to meet, to hear and to profit by the experience of artists who present a new view, a new perspective and a new interest.

Chet Kalm Show Opens Friday at Mari Galleries

The recent paintings of Chet Kalm will be presented by the Mari Galleries as its third exhibition of the season. The one-man show opens Friday, July 31 with a reception from 3 to 7 p. m. and continues through August 13.

Noteworthy in an exhibition of Artist Kalm's works is his versatility, his skillful use of whatever style of painting his mood requires and abstractions of cities and towns in which the buildings become fine compositions of exciting forms and colors.

Kalm, who is now represented in many private collections in the United States, France and Great Britain, studied at Yale School of Fine Arts, at Ecole des Beaux Arts, and at the Academie Colarossi, Paris. He has won several prizes and honors which include two Knickerbocker Artists awards, First Prize and Hors Concours.

Mari Galleries, open daily from 10 a. m., also invites visitors to enjoy the paintings and sculptures by members of its permanent group, which are on exhibition throughout the season. Among the outstanding artists represented are Painters Manuel Bromberg, Richard Crist and Reginald Wilson and Sculptors Mark Ulrich and Ruth Vodka.

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Hector R. Skifter, 63, a scientist responsible for development of several military weapons and defense instruments, died Saturday in a hospital. Skifter, a native of Austin, Minn., was responsible for the wartime development of an airborne magnetometer for submarine detection and electronic countermeasures against German guided missiles.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Sir John Latham, 86, a former chief justice of the High Court of Australia, died Saturday after a short illness. Latham was chief justice 16 years and was minister to Japan until World War II.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Sherwood Lett, 68, chief justice of British Columbia, died Friday in his home after a lingering illness. Lett, a native of Iroquois, Ont., was named chief justice in 1955.

The United States was once the cradle of the shaving mug trade. The first patent for a shaving mug was granted to Thomas E. Hughes of Birmingham, Pa., in 1860. During the 80-year period ending in 1940, a total of 94 U.S. patents were granted for shaving mugs. The vogue for the barber shop shaving mugs, decorated and named to suit each customer, was peculiar to the United States.

Moving Against Cuba, Viet Will Silence Barry's Guns

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has the problem of trying to take the steam out of Sen. Barry Goldwater's complaints about American foreign policy, particularly on two very sore points: Cuba and Viet Nam.

That he is working at it became clear over the weekend.

To bring Fidel Castro tumbling down, Goldwater has proposed various remedies, at various times—from backing an exile invasion of Cuba to shutting off non-Communist trade with it, even if it meant blockading with warships.

Sunday the American republics, through their foreign ministers, agreed not only on condemning Cuba for aggression but on approving strong economic and diplomatic sanctions against Castro's regime. The action had strong U.S. backing.

It was the strongest move by a conference of the ministers since Castro grabbed hold of Cuba on Jan. 1, 1959.

One quick way to step up and perhaps end the Communist guerrilla attacks on South Viet Nam would be to extend the war to North Viet Nam. But that might bring Red China directly into the war. The Johnson administration has been reluctant to take the chance.

Ready For New Measures

But Goldwater has said the United States "can and should end the fighting in Viet Nam by taking strong, affirmative action." This is just one of the things he has said. He has offered various suggestions on how to do this, too.

Sunday night The Associated Press said the United States and Viet Nam reportedly are about ready to announce new measures to step up the war.

This story said there has been no indication here as to the exact nature of these new measures.

But, the story said, they will emphasize this country's determination to support the freedom and independence of Viet Nam and do not involve spreading the war to the north.

In both cases—Viet Nam and the U.S.-backed OAS sanctions against Cuba—the Johnson administration could say the new steps were natural developments without any political implications.

Less to Complain About

But, as Johnson said at his news conference last Friday, "I'm an old campaigner. I've been at it 30 years." Goldwater will have less to complain about if the clamp-down on Cuba gets tighter and the Vietnamese war tougher.

The American states' agreement on Cuba lets them, alone or together, use armed forces against Castro if he continues what the ministers officially described as aggression and subversion against other hemisphere republics.

It remains to be seen what they'll do since the actual carrying out of the actions approved by the foreign ministers must be the job of the individual governments.

Nevertheless Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, called the conference action a "body blow to Communist subversion in this hemisphere."

Mann's appointment to his present job was one of the first actions taken in the foreign affairs field by Johnson after he became president last November.

Invasion Seems Unlikely

The mere act of the ministers' agreement won't topple Castro. And at this moment it seems unlikely any of the American states will invade Cuba.

It may even be unrealistic to expect the Latin-American countries which still have diplomatic relations with Cuba to break them off or even to break off all trade with Cuba, at least right away.

Actually, the Latin-American countries do little trading with Castro's Communist regime. But the psychological effect will hurt him and so will any drying up of such trade as there is.

U.S. officials feel this government's sanctions against trade with Cuba have already given Castro acute economic pains. But now the groundwork has been laid for giving him the miseries.

It's a talking point for Johnson, and it may turn out to be a good one.

The American states' agreement on Cuba lets them, alone or together, use armed forces against Castro if he continues what the ministers officially described as aggression and subversion against other hemisphere republics.

It remains to be seen what they'll do since the actual carrying out of the actions approved by the foreign ministers must be the job of the individual governments.

Nevertheless Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, called the conference action a "body blow to Communist subversion in this hemisphere."

Mann's appointment to his present job was one of the first actions taken in the foreign affairs field by Johnson after he became president last November.

Invasion Seems Unlikely

The mere act of the ministers' agreement won't topple Castro. And at this moment it seems unlikely any of the American states will invade Cuba.

It may even be unrealistic to expect the Latin-American countries which still have diplomatic relations with Cuba to break them off or even to break off all trade with Cuba, at least right away.

Actually, the Latin-American countries do little trading with Castro's Communist regime. But the psychological effect will hurt him and so will any drying up of such trade as there is.

U.S. officials feel this government's sanctions against trade with Cuba have already given Castro acute economic pains. But now the groundwork has been laid for giving him the miseries.

It's a talking point for Johnson, and it may turn out to be a good one.

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Hector R. Skifter, 63, a scientist responsible for development of several military weapons and defense instruments, died Saturday in a hospital. Skifter, a native of Austin, Minn., was responsible for the wartime development of an airborne magnetometer for submarine detection and electronic countermeasures against German guided missiles.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Sir John Latham, 86, a former chief justice of the High Court of Australia, died Saturday after a short illness. Latham was chief justice 16 years and was minister to Japan until World War II.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Sherwood Lett, 68, chief justice of British Columbia, died Friday in his home after a lingering illness. Lett, a native of Iroquois, Ont., was named chief justice in 1955.

The United States was once the cradle of the shaving mug trade. The first patent for a shaving mug was granted to Thomas E. Hughes of Birmingham, Pa., in 1860. During the 80-year period ending in 1940, a total of 94 U.S. patents were granted for shaving mugs. The vogue for the barber shop shaving mugs, decorated and named to suit the customer, was peculiar to the United States.

TV Menace Now Makes Comeback At Ripe Age, 12

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Consider the plight of Jay North—12 years old and making a comeback.

Jay is the bright-faced lad who starred for four years as "Dennis the Menace" in the popular television series. A year ago the show faded from the air, the victim of lagging ratings and its star's continuing growth. It became a bit difficult to have Jay portray the stubby, mischief-making preschooler when he was obviously pushing toward puberty.

What happened after the show was dropped?

Back in Movies Now

"Oh, I did a 'Wagon Train' and some other shows," he said. "And a lot of personal appearances, too."

Now he's back in movies and starring in "Zebra in the Kitchen," another film from animal lover Ivan Tors, producer of "Flipper" and "Rhino." This time Tors is unleashing the entire zoo, or at least Jay is.

The movie has been a ball for Jay, who is crazy about animals. It also might open a whole new career for the lad. He was musing about career matters at his Studio City house after a day's work.

"I really like acting," he commented earnestly. "I love it, in fact, I'd like to go on acting until I get old and die."

But what about astronomy and baseball?

"Oh, I wanted to be an astronomer last week," he admitted, "and a baseball player the week before. But what I really want to do is go on acting. I like everything about it."

Everything?

No More Bleaching
"Well, sometimes I don't like it so well when directors get tired and cranky," he replied. "But even when the directors are sad it's still more fun than anything."

With "Dennis the Menace" dropped, Jay is now spared one ignominy: he no longer must have his hair bleached to match the tow-headed troublemaker. He has let it grow back to its natural shade, sort of apricot-colored.

YMCA Day Camp Season Half Way

The half-way mark of the season ended Friday at the YMCA camp in Shokan.

New campers for the fifth week are: Dennis Crowley, Michael Crowley, Brian Decker, David Devlin, Joseph Dubois, Renee Durand, Robert Durand, Edward Fox, Jeffrey Gagnon, Carl Guendel, Carol Guendel, Christopher Hansen, Ross Hansen, Robert Helle Jr., James Herdman, George Kakoulis Jr., James Kakoulis, Penny Kakoulis, Lisa Anne Kerby, Michael Kirk, Michael Lezherz, David Lee, Norris Lee, Gary Leone, Robert Marcato, John Rieley, David Ross, Kathleen Ross, Mark Ross, Marvin Sauatgy, Nina Schwenk, Edward Stoutenburgh, Linda Symons, Van Symons, David Wachtel, Gary Welis, and Jeffrey Williams.

Comedy, for still another season, will be the most popular type of program in terms of numbers. There will be two program innovations—ABC's "Peyton Place," a half-hour show seen twice a week with a continuing story like the day-time serials, and a 90-minute NBC show, "90 Bristol Court," which is really three half-hour comedies related by the same address for all characters.

Great professional interest is focused on two glamorous action-adventure series: NBC's "The Rogues" about international confidence men with Charles Boyer, David Niven and Gig Young, and its James Bondish "The Man from U.N.C.L.E."

The glossy, sophisticated line could be the television trend a year hence.

The summer months have proved pretty quiet.

NBC's "On Parade" and CBS' occasional Meredith Wilson shows were pleasant variety programs, but CBS' "On Broadway Tonight" was a bit disappointing, partly because of the unexceptional acts but mostly because host Rudy Valle proved stiff, inept and had a hard time reading his cue cards. CBS' "Vacation Playhouse," a collection of unsold pilots, did little except demonstrate why the shows never found buyers.

Held for Grand Jury On Assault Charge

A 23-year-old Marlborough man was ordered held for grand jury action Sunday when he waived preliminary examination on a felony charge of second degree assault.

Leonard Lee Jones, 23, of the Cohen Farm, Zion Road, Town of Marlborough, was committed to the Ulster County Jail after his appearance before Peace Justice Patrick Mataraza of that town ship.

State Police at Lake Katrine substation charged that Jones assaulted his common law wife, Katie Cain, and threatened her with a loaded rifle.

Swept Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—A teenage youth was swept to his death over the Horseshoe Falls after wading into the turbulent waters above the 176-foot high cataract.

Police said the death Saturday night of Larry Klein, 19, of Buffalo, was an apparent suicide.

HST Assures Legion

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry S. Truman has assured members of the American Legion that he expects to be with them many more years.

"I'm only 80," said the ex-president. "I expect to be at least 90, and I count every year."

Truman, an Army captain during World War I, spoke briefly at the closing session of the legion's state convention Sunday.

There will be many new jobs in the future. But they won't be the same as today's. The work will be different—the skills needed will be different. Will you be able to qualify? Remember—

You won't get tomorrow's jobs with yesterday's skills

But you can start re-training now. Find out what these new jobs will be—decide which is best for you. Then go at it. Study. Practice. Whatever that new and better-paying skill calls for.

Re-training is necessary because jobs change with the times. That's part of progress. And so are the new opportunities that come with it. Make the most of them. Speak to the local office of your state employment service.

Little, 12, Hero Is Worried About Cold

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Peter Grothe of Globe has a cold, and was on strict orders from Mom to stay out of the water over this weekend.

However, while playing along the banks of Pinal Creek Sunday, he saw 5-year-old Beth Golden being swept downstream. She had been wading in the creek near her home and was carried out of the shallow water into the swift current.

Peter jumped in the water, grabbed the girl and held tight as they were swept another 150 feet downstream. Then he helped the girl scramble ashore.

"Boy, I'll get it when I get home," said the boy to a sheriff's deputy. "I've got a cold and wasn't supposed to get wet."

Fire at World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—A small fire, quickly extinguished, caused evacuation of from 2,500 to 3,000 persons Sunday from the Ford Pavilion at the World's Fair.

The pavilion was closed for three hours while workmen mopped up water from automatic sprinklers set off by the blaze. One of two rides which takes fairgoers past exhibits was kept closed for the day, because of fear that water-soaked plaster might fall.

The fairgoers in the building were evacuated in about four minutes, before the automatic sprinklers went on.

Police Patrols Are Reduced in Harlem And Brooklyn Section

NEW YORK (AP)—Police patrols have been sharply reduced in Harlem and Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section as peace prevailed in the areas over the weekend.

Negro leaders, saying the racial situation may be entering a constructive phase, urged quick action to deal with the issues underlying Negro unrest—jobs, housing, schools and alleged police brutality.

As police patrolled Sunday in pairs, instead of in groups, a department spokesman said: "We hope this will return the situation to normal."

At various spots in Brooklyn Sunday night, three kerosene-filled bottles were thrown, one into a real estate office doorway, another into the entrance of a tavern, while a third burned in the street. A man in the tavern was reported burned on the right arm and neck.

Damage was slight and there were no disturbances on the streets at the time, police said.

In other developments Sunday: City Councilman Arthur J. Katzman said he will ask the council to seek Mayor Robert F. Wagner's support in creating a citizens committee to investigate the July 16 shooting of a Negro boy by a white policeman. The boy's death sparked last week's riots.

Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy has consistently opposed creation of a citizens review board to investigate charges of brutality and other complaints against police.

On Saturday afternoon, police arrested William Epton, 32, Harlem Negro and avowed Communist, when he appeared on a Harlem street to lead a protest march. Murphy had banned the demonstration.

Epton, leader of the Harlem Defense Council, an offshoot of the Communist-controlled Progressive Labor Movement, had predicted 1,000 marchers. Several hundred persons appeared, mostly spectators. Police quickly dispersed them.

Epton and his attorney, Conrad J. Lynn, 54, were charged with unlawful assembly and released.

men in the building. The men were burned beyond recognition, police said.

The riot figured directly Saturday night in the death of Judson Brayer, about 50, of Wayland. Police said he was struck by a car after being beaten to the pavement during a fight.

Accidents elsewhere in the state also brought death to an auto racing mechanic and a man who drank seven glasses of a mixture of rye, bourbon, whiskey, rum and vodka.

At Holland, Robert Kraemer, 29, of Cheektowaga, was killed Saturday night when a stock car veered into a pit area where he was working at Holland Raceway and struck him.

Took Seven Drinks
At Plattsburgh, Clarence A. Ferguson, 24, of Mineville, lapsed into unconsciousness Saturday night after taking seven drinks of a mixture of assorted liquors. State Police said Ferguson bet a companion $3 he could consume such a mixture.

Other deaths, by community, included:
Round Lake—Charles Steenburgh, 25, Albany, car in which he was riding overturned on the Northway Saturday.
Lake Luzerne—Mary Sudan Hellksen, 18, Staten Island, two-car crash.

Buffalo—Donald Booker, Jr., 25, Clarence, his truck and an auto collided in Amherst Saturday.

Fulton—Ezekiel Shelton, 46, Rome, was drowned Saturday when he fell from a boat while trying to untangle a fishing line in the Oswego River.

Buffalo—Sharon Fields, 15, Buffalo, car jumped curb and hit two trees and three buildings Saturday.

Niagara Falls—Mrs. Katherine Johnson, 63, Niagara Falls, fell down stairway outside her home and struck her head on concrete driveway Saturday.

Oneonta—Mrs. Hilda Finch, 18, fire swept her home Saturday.

Champlain—James Lee, 22, Moores, his wife, Janet, 20, and Yon Willie, 22, Hemingford, Que., two-car collision early Sunday.

Saranac Lake—Joseph Branch, 42, Saranac Lake, apparently was drowned Saturday night when his boat capsized on Kewasa Lake.

Niagara Falls—Brian Phelps, 7, Detroit, Mich., his bicycle and a car collided Saturday. He died Sunday.

Buffalo—Arley V. Everett, 16, Buffalo, was drowned Sunday in Barge Canal in Town of Amherst.

Lowville—Gerald F. Mathys, 16, Lowville, clothing became entangled in farm equipment and he was drawn into the machine Sunday.

Fort Plain—Gerda Helek, 36, West Hollywood, Fla., two-car crash on Thruway Sunday.

Galway—Kimberly G. Bradt, 5, riding in car that collided with another auto near Galway Sunday night.

Two Arrests Are Made Over Fight At Uptown Grill

Two arrests on third degree assault charges followed a reported Sunday night altercation at McConnell's Restaurant, 440 Washington Avenue.

Charged with assault by Joseph J. McConnell, proprietor of the restaurant, were Joseph E. Weber Jr., 18, of 3 Snyder Avenue, and James VanAllen, 19, of 19 Murphy Street. The latter is under treatment at Kingston Hospital for an arm laceration, and was reported in satisfactory condition today. He was taken there by Fatum ambulance.

One Booked Today
Police were notified at 9:44 p. m. of trouble at the restaurant, and officers Charles Diers, James Harris, Lewis Keator and Joseph Feraca were dispatched there. Weber was booked on the assault charge last night and that against Van Allen was lodged today.

Weber was released in the custody of his mother after treatment at Kingston Hospital for reported arm injury. He appeared in city court today with Attorney John E. Gotelli, and hearing for him and Van Allen was put over to Aug. 3.

The two were reported injured by broken glass during a scuffle.

Arrested at Beach
Kenneth N. Jordan, 27, of 34 Broadway, charged with disturbing others at Kingston Point Beach Sunday, was booked on a disorderly conduct charge. He was released in $30 bail for city court hearing today when he pleaded guilty and sentence was put over to Aug. 1.

A police report at 5:27 p. m. said Jordan had been disturbing people at the beach and refused to leave the beach when ordered to do so by officers Frank Kennedy and Leon Fitzgerald.

widespread defiance in the Negro sections.

The sale of all liquor, guns and ammunition was halted indefinitely.

The peak of the rioting occurred Saturday night in the Jefferson Avenue area on the city's west side, a well-kept section populated by the city's more prosperous Negroes.

The area is across town from Joseph Avenue, where the racial violence broke out late Friday night when police sought to arrest a drunken youth at a street dance.

Blame Placed
Negro leaders blame the city's racial tensions on alleged police brutality, including the use of dogs to patrol areas.

They also say that they do not have enough representation on the city's governing bodies.

There also has been contention over the integration of schools in the city and court fights loom over the issue.

There are about 25,000 Negroes in the city, most of them confined to two residential areas.

The Joseph Avenue area was in a state of seige Saturday, with hundreds of armed police ready for trouble. Half of them were rushed across the city in buses when Jefferson Avenue exploded into rioting and looting.

Old Conflicts
The intensity and scope of the rioting was a shock to this quiet, prosperous city of 325,000. There are about 25,000 Negroes here.

The racial outbreak was seen by civil rights leaders as the inevitable result of long-smoldering conflicts. Negroes charged the police with persistent brutality, the same allegation made in the New York City racial outbreaks.

Efforts by some white parents in Rochester to block school integration plans also were blamed. Because of housing patterns, enrollments in some schools are predominantly Negro.

Tension Grows
Tensions between Negroes and white police intensified throughout the rioting.

Local officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called for an end "to looting and rioting."

But they said police had to share the responsibility because of their tactics. The Negro leaders also insisted that any long-range plan for racial peace must provide jobs for Negro newcomers and more recreation facilities for Negro youths.

In calling out the National Guard, Rockefeller's office emphasized that martial law was not declared and that the guard was standing by to assist local and state police.

The helicopter crash came after it went aloft to survey a gathering of Negroes at an earlier trouble spot.

The pilot, James Docharty, 45, was killed. Two Negroes perished in the house that caught fire. Four state troopers suffered burns when they tried to rescue people from the aircraft.

Saturday night, Judson T. Brayer, in his 50s, of Wayland, N.Y. was struck by an automobile as he lay in the street after being hit during the rioting.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Selective strength featured an irregular stock market early this afternoon.

Some of the blue-chip chemicals and coppers moved higher and steels were on the upside along with a scattering of specially situated issues.

Motors, rubbers, airlines, oils, rails and farm implements were irregular.

The market seemed to be undergoing further consolidation of the kind shown last week following its thrust to new highs, brokers said, and there was little in the weekend news to inspire a broad upmove.

Fish Says Demos Making Birchers A 'False Issue'

HAMILTON FISH, former Republican member of the U. S. House of Representatives and Dutchess County resident, said today that Democrats and others "who want to sabotage the Goldwater campaign" have injected a "false issue" in the campaign, namely the refusal of the GOP National Convention to denounce the John Birch Society.

In a letter to The New York Herald Tribune, Fish said that he was not a member of the Birch Society and strongly disapproved the "false attack made by the founder on former President Eisenhower."

However, he said, "Barry Goldwater repudiated that statement long ago and Gen. Eisenhower has agreed to campaign for him." He said, "It was dirty politics to include the Birch Society with the Klu Klux Klan that indulges in lawlessness and the Communists who seek to destroy our freedom by force and violence."

"Every American who believes in free speech recognizes the right of the John Birch Society on the extreme political right and the Americans for Democratic Action, the Liberal Party and the Socialists on the left to enjoy freedom of speech," Fish said. "I know very little about the Birch Society; only one member and he is a well-known New York businessman of the highest character and patriotism. I do not agree with their policies, but I uphold their right to freedom of speech."

The impact destroyed one side of the steel and wood car, crushing passengers as it caved in.

Witnesses said the rear unit appeared to fishtail as it left a curve just ahead of the walled-in stretch of track. Passengers in the front car were not hurt.

The normal capacity of each unit was 68 passenger, but witnesses said the car was overcrowded.

A passenger in the forward car, Jose Ferreira, 43, told newsmen, "Suddenly I sensed the front car was rolling faster, lighter, as it left the curve."

He said he leaned out a door, looked back, and saw the rear car was rolling free.

"I jumped out, believing it would hit our car, and then I heard the smash," he said.

Widow Should Wait Before Buying Stock

Q—"My husband died recently. I have $30,000 in savings, and own 500 American Telephone; 400 Pacific Telephone; 450 Pacific Gas & Electric; 200 Montgomery Ward; 50 Sears, Roebuck; 50 American Cyanamid; 50 Jersey Standard. What would you think of putting part of my savings into more Sears, Roebuck; Montgomery Ward; Procter & Gamble, or Massey-Ferguson?" L. W.

A—I am extremely sorry to learn of your husband's recent death, but I am pleased that he left you so well provided for.

I do not feel that you should reduce your savings backlog until there are better bargains in the marketplace. If you wait a year or two, I think you may find some.

You do hold a disproportionate dollar amount in the Bell System. I suggest that for diversification you sell 400 shares of Pacific Telephone (90 percent owned by A. T. & T.) build up your position in Sears, Roebuck and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

I consider Montgomery Ward unattractive from the standpoint of growth and yield and would switch to Safeway Stores. Q—"Which of the tax-exempt municipal bonds do you recommend for safety of principal and interest? Are there any California tax-exempt bonds that are safer in these respects. Which do you recommend?" S. S.

A—I believe that the tax-exempt funds do a good job generally. I am not, however, going to single out any particular fund for recommendation.

If you are interested in a California tax-exempt, there is an issue available that is certainly superior to most other issues as well as to most funds. I refer to State of California bonds where longer term maturities yield as high as 3.30 percent.

Of good but necessarily lesser quality are San Diego Water Authority 3½% of 1992 recently offered to yield 3.35 percent.

These two issues, in my opinion, are in the first instance superior, and in the second equal in security, to most municipal bond funds.

Points, picas, agate lines, and ABC

Along about 1886, publishers joined with representatives of allied trades in voluntarily adopting common standards of printer's measurements. This is called the "point system." Today, point, pica, and agate line are rigidly defined units of measure universally understood and used in our industry.

In 1914, publishers joined with representatives of advertisers and advertising agencies, and once again voluntarily adopted a common set of standards—this time, to measure circulation values. Further, publishers cooperated in setting up an organization to maintain these standards, and to use them in measuring and reporting the circulations of publications.

In helping to set up this organization, publishers willingly gave advertisers and advertising agencies majority voice in its operation, its standards, and its application of these standards in measuring circulations.

This year the Audit Bureau of Circulations marks its fiftieth year of providing the basic measures of circulation values. Along with more than 4,000 other members, we pause with pride to salute the accomplishments of this outstanding example of self-regulation in industry.

Through the reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, we, along with other ABC publisher members, voluntarily and regularly give you, the buyers of advertising, more verified factual information about ourselves than is available for any other media at any time.

The distribution of your sales messages in this newspaper is a measured fact, verified by independent audit. Measured facts also provide the basis for our advertising rates.

Whether you use inches or points, ABC is your yardstick for measuring circulation values.

Fish Says Demos Making Birchers A 'False Issue'

Hamilton Fish, former Republican member of the U. S. House of Representatives and Dutchess County resident, said today that Democrats and others "who want to sabotage the Goldwater campaign" have injected a "false issue" in the campaign, namely the refusal of the GOP National Convention to denounce the John Birch Society.

In a letter to The New York Herald Tribune, Fish said that he was not a member of the Birch Society and strongly disapproved the "false attack made by the founder on former President Eisenhower."

However, he said, "Barry Goldwater repudiated that statement long ago and Gen. Eisenhower has agreed to campaign for him." He said, "It was dirty politics to include the Birch Society with the Klu Klux Klan that indulges in lawlessness and the Communists who seek to destroy our freedom by force and violence."

"Every American who believes in free speech recognizes the right of the John Birch Society on the extreme political right and the Americans for Democratic Action, the Liberal Party and the Socialists on the left to enjoy freedom of speech," Fish said. "I know very little about the Birch Society; only one member and he is a well-known New York businessman of the highest character and patriotism. I do not agree with their policies, but I uphold their right to freedom of speech."

85 Passengers

The rear unit of the two-car diesel train snapped its couplings, jumped the track and "careened down a section of track flanked by walls, slamming back and forth between them."

"It dropped from the embankment and turned over where the walls came to an end," he added.

The impact destroyed one side of the steel and wood car, crushing passengers as it caved in.

Witnesses said the rear unit appeared to fishtail as it left a curve just ahead of the walled-in stretch of track. Passengers in the front car were not hurt.

The normal capacity of each unit was 68 passenger, but witnesses said the car was overcrowded.

A passenger in the forward car, Jose Ferreira, 43, told newsmen, "Suddenly I sensed the front car was rolling faster, lighter, as it left the curve."

He said he leaned out a door, looked back, and saw the rear car was rolling free.

"I jumped out, believing it would hit our car, and then I heard the smash," he said.

ST. REMY MISHAP—Maurice S. Daly, 29, Route 1, Box 193-A, Stone Ridge, received a deep laceration of the leg and chest injuries about 12:30 a. m. Sunday when a car he was operating east on Route 213, near St. Remy, struck a tree. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. Daly told Deputy Sheriff Daniel Levy, left, and James Freer that while driving east on Route 213, an unknown car crossed the centerline and forced him off the road to the soft shoulder causing his car to strike a tree.

Van Gonsie Home Sold

A contract of sale has been entered into between John R. Shults Jr., vice-president of Canfield Supply Company, and John J. Van Gonsie, president of Trailways Bus Depot Inc., of Kingston, for purchase of the Van Gonsie residence property at 32 West Chestnut Street.

Mr. Shults presently resides at 20 Presidents Place. The Van Gonsie residence on West Chestnut Street is one of the finer residences of the city of Kingston with a wide panoramic view of the Hudson River.

Witnesses said the rear unit appeared to fishtail as it left a curve just ahead of the walled-in stretch of track. Passengers in the front car were not hurt.

Q—"My husband died recently. I have $30,000 in savings, and own 500 American Telephone; 400 Pacific Telephone; 450 Pacific Gas & Electric; 200 Montgomery Ward; 50 Sears, Roebuck; 50 American Cyanamid; 50 Jersey Standard. What would you think of putting part of my savings into more Sears, Roebuck; Montgomery Ward; Procter & Gamble, or Massey-Ferguson?" L. W.

A—I am extremely sorry to learn of your husband's recent death, but I am pleased that he left you so well provided for.

I do not feel that you should reduce your savings backlog until there are better bargains in the marketplace. If you wait a year or two, I think you may find some.

You do hold a disproportionate dollar amount in the Bell System. I suggest that for diversification you sell 400 shares of Pacific Telephone (90 per cent owned by A. T. & T.), build up your position in Sears, Roebuck and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

I consider Montgomery Ward unattractive from the standpoint of growth and yield and would switch to Safeway Stores.

Q—"Which of the tax-exempt municipal bonds do you recommend for safety of principal and interest? Are there any California tax-exempt bonds that are safer in these respects. Which do you recommend?" S. S.

A—I believe that the tax-exempt funds do a good job generally. I am not, however, going to single out any particular fund for recommendation.

If you are interested in a California tax-exempt, there is an issue available that is certainly superior to most other issues as well as to most funds. I refer to State of California bonds where longer term maturities yield as high as 3.30 per cent.

Of good but necessarily lesser quality are San Diego Water Authority 3 1/4's of 1992 recently offered to yield 3.35 per cent. These two issues, in my opinion, are in the first instance superior, and in the second equal in security, to most municipal bond funds.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Point, pica, agate lines, and ABC

Along about 1886, publishers joined with representatives of allied trades in voluntarily adopting common standards of printer's measurements. This is called the "point system." Today, point, pica, and agate line are rigidly defined units of measure universally understood and used in our industry.

In 1914, publishers joined with representatives of advertisers and advertising agencies, and once again voluntarily adopted a common set of standards—this time, to measure circulation values. Further, publishers cooperated in setting up an organization to maintain these standards, and to use them in measuring and reporting the circulations of publications.

In helping to set up this organization, publishers willingly gave advertisers and advertising agencies majority voice in its operation, its standards, and its application of these standards in measuring circulations.

This year the Audit Bureau of Circulations marks its fiftieth year of providing the basic measures of circulation values. Along with more than 4,000 other members, we pause with pride to salute the accomplishments of this outstanding example of self-regulation in industry.

Through the reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, we, along with other ABC publisher members, voluntarily and regularly give you, the buyers of advertising, more verified factual information about ourselves than is available for any other media at any time.

The distribution of your sales messages in this newspaper is a measured fact, verified by independent audit. Measured facts also provide the basis for our advertising rates.

Whether you use inches or points, ABC is your yardstick for measuring circulation values.

Carty Leads Braves Over Mets; LA Wins 5th Straight Twinbill

Rookie Slugs Seven Hits in Twin Triumph

By MURRAY CHASS

Rico Carty, a former boxer, has made a big hit in New York. Seven hits, in fact. Five with his bat and two with his right.

Carty, a 24-year-old rookie, was all over the place, especially right in the middle of a two-punch fight, as Milwaukee swept the Mets 11-7 and 15-10 Sunday.

Continuing his torrid streak, Carty collected a pair of two-run homers, a double and two singles, driving in eight runs in the two games and increasing his batting average to .342, only one point behind Roberto Clemente's major league-leading .343.

Before he became a professional baseball player, Carty was an amateur fighter in the Dominican Republic. He couldn't understand why he had to train so many weeks for one bout, but he did it anyway. He did it so well, in fact, that he won his first 17 fights.

His career, however, came to an abrupt end.

"One time I lost, and I don't like to lose," he explained.

Carty didn't lose Sunday when he briefly rediscovered his fondness for fistfights. His New York debut—a few miles from Madison Square Garden—came a few minutes after the nightcap started.

Milwaukee's Denis Menke led off the game with a homer against Frank Lary. Lee Maye, the next batter, was hit with a pitch. When he got up, he started toward the mound but was intercepted by Mets' catcher Chris Cannizzaro, a would-be peace-maker.

Thomas Is Punched

Both dugouts emptied, Carty leading with his fleet feet and his right. His first swing caught Cannizzaro, and he followed with one to the jaw of first baseman Frank Thomas. There were no knockdowns.

The partisan crowd of 31,782 booed the decision—Carty wasn't ejected.

But the reception didn't bother the versatile slugger. One out later, he slammed his 12th home run into the left field stands.

In other NL games, St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 6-1 and 4-1. San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 5-2. Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 5-1 after losing 7-2 and Chicago blanked Houston 3-0.

Carty drove in five runs in the second game, the last tying the contest 10-10 in the eighth inning after the Mets exploded for seven runs in the seventh. Joe Torre followed with a single, knocking in the lead run. Hank Aaron, who had six hits and six RBI in the doubleheader, added a three-run homer in the ninth.

The Phillies saw their league lead sliced to one-half game over San Francisco as two left-handers stymied them. Gordon Richardson, making his first major league appearance, checked the Phillies off five hits in the opener. He did Ray Sadecki in the second game.

Some faulty Los Angeles fielding helped the Giants halt Sandy Koufax' winning streak at 11. Koufax led 2-1 going into the ninth, but Jose Pagan beat out a bunt, continued to second on Jim Gilliam's wild toss, went to third on a sacrifice and scored as Maury Wills dropped a pop up.

Koufax got another out before Willie Mays doubled across the winning run. Jim Hart followed with a homer, clinching Koufax' fifth defeat against 15 victories. The ace left-hander hadn't lost since May 27.

Bob Veale won his 12th game against six losses with a four-hitter against the Reds. The Pirates scored all of their runs in the fourth inning, three on Willie Stargell's second homer of the day and two on Jerry Lynch's single.

Leo Cardenas cracked his first career grand slam in the opener, connecting off Roy Face in the eighth inning.

Larry Jackson checked his Colts on five hits, outdueling Ken Johnson who allowed six hits. Two of the Cubs' hits, though, were a two-run homer by Ernie Banks and a bases-empty blast by Ron Santo.

Tops Kansas City To Set Major League Record

By DICK COUCH

Those double-dealing Los Angeles Angels are getting meaner by the minute.

Their pilot got himself grounded between flights Sunday and the Angels soared right past the fallen leader without a backward glance.

Bill Rigney, the Los Angeles manager, established some sort of record when he was ejected between games of a doubleheader at Kansas City. But Rigney's absence didn't stop the Angels from completing a 3-0, 4-3 sweep over the Athletics and tying a 58-year-old major league record.

The doubleheader victory was the streaking Angels' fifth straight over a two-week period and concluded a 10-3 road trip that has vaulted them into the American League's first division. The 1964 Yankees were the last club to sweep five consecutive twin bills.

Umpire Al Smith chased Rigney during the home plate meeting preceding the 10-inning nightcap after a heated debate over a first-game decision. Rigney claimed a triple by KC's Chuck Shoemaker should have been called a ground-rule double.

Face Yanks Tonight

Rigney will be back when the Angels—in fourth place, three games over the .500 mark—open a three-game set against the league-leading New York Yankees tonight at Los Angeles.

The Yanks' unsundered Baltimore with 11-6 and 5-4 victories over Detroit while the Orioles lost to Washington 4-1 and fell one half game behind. The third-place Chicago White Sox staggered Minnesota twice, 5-4 in 12 innings and 3-0, and Boston swept Cleveland, 6-3 and 3-1.

The Angels' first-game shutout boosted their major league-leading total to 16. Seven of the 16 have come since the All-Star break and four—each by different pitchers—during the 13-game road trip.

Aubrey Gatewood, who worked the first six innings, ran his scoreless string, since being recalled from Hawaii of the PCL, to 19-13 innings. Bob Lee, who completed the eight-hitter, has not allowed a run in his last 18-13 innings.

In the nightcap, the Angels snapped a 2-2 tie on Bobby Knopp's double, a pinch hit single by Ed Kirkpatrick and two KC errors. The A's rallied for a run in the bottom of the 10th before Bob Dilliba, sixth Los Angeles hurler, got the final out.

Peppone Homers

Joe Peppone's three-run homer in the eighth capped the Yankees' first-game victory. Tom Tresh and Bobby Richardson each had a single, double and home run while Roger Maris added four singles.

John Blanchard's two-out pop fly in the seventh inning of the nightcap sparked a three-run rally that brought New York from behind. Hector Lopez drove in two runs with a pinch hit single and Phil Linz doubled home the other.

Dave Stenhouse held Baltimore to three hits and won for the first time after six defeats. Ed Brinkman's leadoff home run in the first inning and a three-run fifth gave Stenhouse, who had failed to finish in eight previous starts, all the support he needed.

John Buzhardt tossed a three-hitter for Chicago in the second game after relief pitcher Eddie Fisher's bases loaded single broke up the 12-inning opener. Ron Hansen homered and Bill Skowron collected three hits behind Buzhardt. First game starter Gary Peters hit a three-run homer for the White Sox, who trail the Yankees by one game and the Orioles by one-half game.

Earl Wilson pitched a four-hitter for Boston in the opener and Tony Conigliaro and Frank Malzone cracked first-inning homers. Rookie Ed Connolly and bullpen ace Dick Radatz collaborated for a four-hitter in the nightcap.

Two Bear Stars Killed in Crash

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—The sports world was stunned today by an auto crash which killed Chicago Bears' star half-back Willie Galimore and his teammate, John Farrington.

Galimore, a seven-year veteran who was drafted from Florida A&M University in 1956, and Farrington, a 6-foot-3, 217-pound offensive spread end, were killed in the wreckage of Galimore's car late Sunday night on a rural road.

State police said Galimore and Farrington apparently were returning to their living quarters at St. Joseph College when Galimore's car skidded out of control on a curve.

Galimore and Farrington had been training with the Bears in preparation for the College All-Star football game Aug. 7. They had attended a players' meeting earlier in the evening.

9th Inning Run Gives Albany Win in Finals

Gary Toomer's perfect squeeze bunt with one out in the ninth inning gave the Blanchard Post of Albany a thrilling, 1-0, win over Old Capital Motors, representing Post No. 150 of Kingston in the finals of the District 3 championship before more than 1,200 Sunday at Albany's Blecker Stadium.

The squeeze play came on a 1-1 pitch and scored Vince Martino from third base. He had opened the ninth with a triple off Vince Fisher. The ball was just fair down the left field line.

Prior to that inning, the teams engaged in a tight game, featuring excellent pitching by both sides and some superb defensive plays.

Kingston's Brian Bach, the top hurler in the weekend tourney, went 6½ innings for the locals. He had to be relieved in the seventh because a tournament rule prohibits a pitcher from going more than 12 innings within a three-day period.

Bach pitched 5 1/3 innings on Saturday as Kingston beat Hudson, 6-3. A sophomore at Kingston High, his record shows 12 innings pitched, three hits, 18 strikeouts and eight walks.

Lefty Bon Boone went the distance for Blanchard Post. He fanned 15 and escaped a couple of jams before posting the important decision.

After Albany had tallied in the top of the ninth, the losers didn't go down without a struggle. Dave Horton began the inning by drawing a pass.

After John Crespiro was retired on a pop fly, Paul Gruner delivered a clean single to right, sending Horton to second.

Paul Natale, who earlier had delivered a booming triple to the far reaches of the outfield, hit a hard shot to third. The ball was gloved by Chip Estey, who stepped on the bag for a force-out.

This left it up to Nick Berardi. After slamming a 350-foot drive to left, he popped to third to end the dramatic tilt.

Boone had a tough moment in the seventh. Natale belted his triple with one out. On an intentional walk to Berardi, the hurler put the ball too close. Nick swung and hit to short. Natale was tagged out attempting to score.

Bach and relief chucker Fisher worked with comparative ease until the ninth. Brian walked two and fanned nine. He received a standing ovation after completing his chore on the hill.

Old Capital reached the finals by defeating Hudson, 6-3, in Saturday's game. Bach went the first five innings but had to be called in from the outfield to relieve Fisher for the last out in the sixth.

Natale slugged a double and homer and John Crespiro also homered for the locals. Tom Jablonski had a roundtripper for Hudson.

Venturi Wins Golf Tourney

By LOU BLACK

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—It was Ken Venturi Day today in San Francisco, home of the popular U.S. Open golf champion.

But before flying off to the city by the Golden Gate, the 33-year-old Venturi with the white cap had quite a do for himself Sunday in the Insurance City Open.

Picture it. There was the National Open king, heading for victory like a man out for a walk. All he had to do was par the 71st and 72nd holes. Suddenly his game collapsed.

Venturi got a bogey on the 71st and a double bogey for a six on the 72nd, amazing the crowd of more than 18,000 as well as himself. He was left with a 273 total, 11 under par.

That set it up for the cliff-hanging finale. Sam Carmichael, 25, a sophomore PGA tourist, and veteran Al Bessellink, playing behind Venturi, knew what they had to do to win.

But Sam missed an 11-foot putt that he had to sink to win, and Bessellink's bold pitch to the green and possible victory rolled to the apron, forcing him to take two more shots and a bogey five.

Bessellink, Carmichael, Paul Bondeson, 25, and Jimmy Grant, a 22-year-old amateur from the home club—Wethersfield—had to settle for a four-way tie for runner-up, one stroke off the winning total.

While Venturi flew to the Pacific Coast for a parade in his honor and a brief vacation, his first since winning the National Open more than a month ago, most of the other pros headed for the Canadian Open that starts Thursday at St. Luc, Que.

Tiger, Gonzalez Bout Tops Card This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Tiger still hopes to get his promised return bout with Joey Giardello for the middleweight title but the ex-champion from Nigeria plans to keep busy while waiting.

With Giardello apparently headed for a Las Vegas, Nev., defense in October against Rubin Carter, Tiger has agreed to box Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico Friday at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Tiger recently returned from Nigeria after taking a long vacation following his upset defeat by Giardello last December in Atlantic City, N.J.

Gonzalez has a record as a spoiler who has beaten such high-ranked boxers as Joey Archer and Rubin Carter. The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television.

Sugar Ray Robinson, five-times middleweight champion of the world, is due to test Art Hernandez Monday night in Art's home town of Omaha, Neb. Hernandez has won 18 of 19 and is unbeaten in his last 16.

Robinson gets a $5,000 guarantee against a privilege of 25 per cent of the gate from co-promoters Les Sloan of Omaha and Mickey Duff of London. Duff is planning to see Sugar Ray in Britain this fall.

Carty Leads Braves Over Mets; LA Wins 5th Straight Twinbill

Rookie Slugs Seven Hits in Twin Triumph

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rico Carty, a former boxer, has made a big hit in New York. Seven hits, in fact. Five with his bat and two with his right.

Carty, a 24-year-old rookie, was all over the place, especially right in the middle of a two-punch fight, as Milwaukee swept the Mets 11-7 and 15-10 Sunday.

Continuing his torrid streak, Carty collected a pair of two-run homers, a double and two singles, driving in eight runs in the two games and increasing his batting average to .342, only one point behind Roberto Clemente's major league-leading .343.

Before he became a professional baseball player, Carty was an amateur fighter in the Dominican Republic. He couldn't understand why he had to train so many weeks for one bout, but he did it anyway. He did it so well, in fact, that he won his first 17 fights.

His career, however, came to an abrupt end.

"One time I lost, and I don't like to lose," he explained.

Carty didn't lose Sunday when he briefly rediscovered his fondness for fistfights. His New York debut—a few miles from Madison Square Garden—came a few minutes after the nightcap started.

Milwaukee's Denis Menke led off the game with a homer against Frank Lary. Lee Maye, the next batter, was hit with a pitch. When he got up, he started toward the mound but was intercepted by Mets' catcher Chris Cannizzaro, a would-be peacemaker.

Thomas Is Punched
Both dugouts emptied, Carty leading with his fleet feet and his right. His first swing caught Cannizzaro, and he followed with one to the jaw of first base man Frank Thomas. There were no knockouts.

The partisan crowd of 31,782 booed the decision—Carty wasn't ejected.

But the reception didn't bother the versatile slugger. One out later, he slammed his 12th home run into the left field stands.

In other NL games, St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 6-1 and 4-1. San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 5-2. Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 5-1 after losing 7-2 and Chicago blanked Houston 3-0.

Carty drove in five runs in the second game, the last tying the contest 10-10 in the eighth inning after the Mets exploded for seven runs in the seventh. Joe Torre followed with a single, knocking in the lead run.

Hank Aaron, who had six hits and six RBI in the doubleheader, added a three-run homer in the ninth.

The Phillies saw their league lead sliced to one-half game over San Francisco as two left-handers stymied them. Gordon Richardson, making his first major league appearance, checked the Phillies on five hits in the opener.

Some faulty Los Angeles fielding helped the Giants halt Sandy Koufax' winning streak at 11. Koufax led 2-1 going into the ninth, but Jose Pagan beat out a bunt, continued to second on Jim Gilliam's wild toss, went to third on a sacrifice and scored as Maury Wills dropped a pop up.

Peppone Homers

Joe Peppone's three-run homer in the eighth capped the Yankees' first-game victory. Tom Tresh and Bobby Richardson each had a single, double and home run while Roger Maris added four singles.

John Blanchard's two-out pop fly in the seventh inning of the nightcap sparked a three-run rally that brought New York from behind. Hector Lopez drove in two runs with a pinch hit single and Phil Linz doubled home the other.

Dave Stenhouse held Baltimore to three hits and won for the first time after six defeats. Ed Brinkman's leadoff home run in the first inning and a three-run fifth gave Stenhouse, who had failed to finish in eight previous starts, all the support he needed.

John Buzhardt tossed a three-hitter for Chicago in the second game after relief pitcher Eddie Fisher's bases-loaded single broke up the 12-inning opener.

Ron Hansen homered and Bill Skowron collected three hits behind Buzhardt. First game starter Gary Peters hit a three-run homer for the White Sox, who trail the Yankees by one game and the Orioles by one-half game.

Earl Wilson pitched a four-hitter for Boston in the opener and Tony Conigliaro and Frank Malzone cracked first-inning homers. Rookie Ed Connolly and bullpen ace Dick Radatz collaborated for a four-hitter in the nightcap.

Tops Kansas City To Set Major League Record

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those double-dealing Los Angeles Angels are getting meaner by the minute.

Their pilot got himself grounded between flights Sunday and the Angels soared right past the fallen leader without a backward glance.

Bill Rigney, the Los Angeles manager, established some sort of record when he was ejected between games of a doubleheader at Kansas City. But Rigney's absence didn't stop the Angels from completing a 3-0, 4-3 sweep over the Athletics and tying a 58-year-old major league record.

The doubleheader victory was the streaking Angels' fifth straight over a two-week period and concluded a 10-3 road trip that has vaulted them into the American League's first division. The 1964 Yankees were the last club to sweep five consecutive twin bills.

Umpire Al Smith chased Rigney during the home plate meeting preceding the 10-inning nightcap after a heated debate over a first-game decision. Rigney claimed a triple by KC's Chuck Shoemaker should have been called a ground-rule double.

Face Yanks Tonight

Rigney will be back when the Angels—in fourth place, three games over the .500 mark—open a three-game set against the league-leading New York Yankees tonight at Los Angeles.

The Yanks' unsated Baltimore with 11-6 and 5-4 victories over Detroit while the Orioles lost to Washington 4-1 and fell one half game behind. The third-place Chicago White Sox staggered Minnesota twice, 5-4 in 12 innings and 3-0, and Boston swept Cleveland, 6-3 and 3-1.

The Angels' first-game shutout boosted their major league-leading total to 16. Seven of the 16 have come since the All-Star break and four—each by different pitchers—during the 13-game road trip.

Aubrey Gatewood, who worked the first six innings, ran his scoreless string, since being recalled from Hawaii of the PCL, to 19-13 innings. Bob Lee, who completed the eight-hitter, has not allowed a run in his last 18-1-3 innings.

In the nightcap, the Angels snapped a 2-2 tie on Bobby Knoop's double, a pinch hit single by Ed Kirkpatrick and two KC errors. The A's rallied for a run in the bottom of the 10th before Bob Dubbia, sixth Los Angeles hurler, got the final out.

9th Inning Run Gives Albany Win in Finals

Gary Toomer's perfect squeeze bunt with one out in the ninth inning gave the Blanchard Post of Albany a thrilling, 1-0, win over Old Capital Motors, representing Post No. 150 of Kingston in the finals of the District 3 championship before more than 1,200 Sunday at Albany's Bleeker Stadium.

The squeeze play came on a 1-1 pitch and scored Vince Martino from third base. He had opened the ninth with a triple off Vince Fisher. The ball was just fair down the left field line.

Prior to that inning, the teams engaged in a tight game, featuring excellent pitching by both sides and some superb defensive plays.

Kingston's Brian Bach, the top hurler in the weekend tourney, went 6 1/3 innings for the locals. He had to be relieved in the seventh because a tournament rule prohibits a pitcher from going more than 12 innings within a three-day period.

Bach pitched 5 1/3 innings on Saturday as Kingston beat Hudson, 6-3. A sophomore at Kingston High, his record shows 12 innings pitched, three hits, 18 strikeouts and eight walks. Bach didn't allow a run.

Lefty Bon Boone went the distance for Blanchard Post. He fanned 15 and escaped a couple of jams before posting the important decision.

After Albany had tallied in the top of the ninth, the losers didn't go down without a struggle. Dave Horton began the inning by drawing a pass. After John Crespiro was retired on a pop fly, Paul Gruner delivered a clean single to right, sending Horton to second.

Paul Natale, who earlier had delivered a booming triple to the far reaches of the outfield, hit a hard shot to third. The ball was gloved by Chip Estey, who stepped on the bag for a force-out.

This left it up to Nick Berardi. After slapping a 350-foot foul drive to left, he popped to third to end the dramatic tilt.

Boone had a tough moment in the seventh. Natale belted his triple with one out. On an intentional walk to Berardi, the hurler put the ball too close.

Nick swung and hit to short. Natale was tagged out attempting to score.

Bach and relief chucker Fisher worked with comparative ease until the ninth. Brian walked two and fanned nine. He received a standing ovation after completing his chore on the hill.

Old Capital reached the finals by decisioning Hudson, 6-3, in Saturday's game. Bach went the first five innings but had to be called in from the outfield to relieve Fisher for the last out in the sixth.

Natale juggled a double and homer and John Crespiro also homered for the locals. Tom Jablonski had a roundtripper for Hudson.

Venturi Wins Golf Tourney

By LOU BLACK
Associated Press Sports Writer

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—It was Ken Venturi Day today in San Francisco, home of the popular U.S. Open golf champion.

But before flying off to the city by the Golden Gate, the 32-year-old Venturi with the white cap had quite a day for himself Sunday in the Insurance City Open.

Picture it. There was the National Open king, heading for victory like a man out for a walk. All he had to do was par the 71st and 72nd holes. Suddenly his game collapsed.

Venturi got a foggy on the 71st and a double bogey for a six on the 72nd, amazing the crowd of more than 18,000 as well as himself. He was left with a 273 total, 11 under par.

That set it up for the cliff-hanging finale. Sam Carmichael, 25, a sophomore PGA tourist, and veteran Al Besselink, playing behind Venturi, knew what they had to do to win.

Two World Marks Set in Coliseum; Women Nipped

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—With two world records headed for the books, along with three American marks, the United States celebrated its most decisive victory and the Russians flew home for extra-intensive training for the Olympics Games.

Such was the wind-up of the sixth dual meet between the USA and USSR, whose track and field aggregations are regarded as the most powerful in the world.

A crowd of 55,924 turned out for the final show Sunday in Memorial Coliseum. 50,519 watched Saturday—bringing the two-day total to 106,443.

Win Over-All Title

The final scores: in men's events, the United States 139, Russia 97; in women's events, Russia 59, the United States 48; over-all, the United States 187, Russia 156. It was the first time the United States won over-all.

The Russians on arrival from Moscow said their team was two months behind the Americans, because of the seasons, and with two months to go before the Tokyo Games, it could appear the Soviets will have a busy time in the immediate weeks ahead.

There were highlights for all and the crowd kept up a noisy rumble of approval each afternoon.

The big roar Sunday went to 27-year-old Jim Grelle for his victory in the 1,500-meter run, and Bob Schul as he and 30-year-old Bill Dellinger ran off with the 5,000 meters.

The day before the ovals went to 18-year-old Gerry Lindgren after his amazing triumph in the gruelling 10,000, and the two world record smashers, Fred Hanse, 17-4 in the pole vault, and Dallas Long, 67-10 in the shot put.

The main attraction Sunday was Russia's record holding high jumper, Valery Brumel. But Brumel managed 7-3½ and missed at 7-6 in an attempt to better his mark of 7-5½.

The American records were set by Ira Davis in the triple jump at 55-11, by Leah Ferris of Honolulu in the 800 meters in 2:08.8, and Willye White of Chicago in the broad jump, 21-6. Miss White placed second at 21-7½ but it was wind aided and would not hold up as a national record.

There were several outstanding firsts for the Americans in this meet:

First victories in the 10,000 meters, Lindgren in 29:17.6; in the triple jump, Davis' 55-11; the 5,000, Schul's 13:50.2; the 3,000-meter steeplechase, by George Young, in 8:42.1.

It was also the finest showing by the women's team since the meet began in 1958.

There were disappointments for the Americans, too. Dyrrol Burleson was unable to run in the 1,500 because of a severe virus attack Sunday morning.

Then Ralph Boston lost in the broad jump, Hal Connolly in the hammer-throw and Randy Matson's third place in the shot put.

Van Aken-Sawyer Wiltwyck Scotch Foursome Champs

Harold Van Aken and Ray Sawyer teamed up Sunday at the Wiltwyck Country Club to win the Men's Scotch foursome tournament with a score of 76-10-66. As the name implies in this event, both players drive then one is selected and the players alternate until it is holed out. One half of the combined handicaps were utilized.

Don DeKoskie and Brian Smith won second place with 74-7 67. Joe Erena and Leon Randall joined out the first three top scores with 77-8-69.

Other leading scorers were: B. Gorbett-B. Thomas ... 81-14-70 L. Kekoc-J. Provenzano ... 80-10-70 J. Gruber-B. Costello ... 78-8-70 H. LeFever-G. Cozema ... 79-8-71 K. Davis-R. Marks ... 84-9-75

Miss Lee Scott Raceway Winner

Miss Lee Scott went three wide at the head of the stretch and passed front running Nevele Surprise at the wire to win Saturday night's feature $1,500 race at Monticello Raceway in the snappy time of 2:06.1.

Driven by Frank Popfinger, the leading dash winner at the Raceway, the 5-year-old brown mare won going away. Nevele Surprise, which set most of the pace, finished second and Lusty Abbey came on strong to finish third.

The winner, sent off at 5-1 odds, returned $12.60, $6.00 and $3.80. Nevele Surprise paid $6.00 and $3.70 and Lusty Abbey paid $3.60 for show.

The 8-8 combination clicked for the first time in the daily double and returned $76.40. Chimes Girl, driven by Page Floyd, won the opening pace and Fabering, with Bill Popfinger in the sulky, came home first in the second dash.

Tonight's twin double of 1-3 and 6-1 paid $6,275.30.

BEST BET — Parker Z. (2nd)
UPSET CHANCE — Fingo's Boy (9th)
1. ATLANTIC STONE is the only previous winner in this field. WHITE CHOICE has some fair efforts. DAME ABBE ditto.
2. PARKER Z. is the best bet with Hodgins in the sulky. MONTREAL MIR had a good race last time. AFTON NICK might surprise.
3. EDDIE DUKE was a beaten favorite. NEVELE GOURMET has the pole and a top driver. COSMIC HANOVER never wins but is almost always in the money.
4. HAD A PENNY is a promising 3-year-old. FAIR DUANE must be given a chance. BOB CANADA isn't much.
5. WESTBURY led until the stretch and then backed up. Might be ready now. MISS NELL qualified well. HAVA'S AVA isn't much but who is in this race?
6. DUNDEEN was locked inside and couldn't get out. BARON RUDOLPH went powerful trip the last time and won going away. IVY CASTLE is tough in the stretch.
7. ELEANOR'S LAST BOY seeks initial win. In a good spot here. ROYAL WAYNE went the final quarter in 30.1 and looked back at the field. The one to beat. KNIGHT PRINCE always dangerous in this company.
8. TAG appears to be snapping slump. MARTY PARKER made a smart move in last but nothing left at the finish. JACANA HANOVER will be battling.
9. COUNTRYMON closes well and must be feared from the pole. FINGO'S BOY didn't like the off track. Can win this one. NEVELE DOLL is the best of the rest.

Four-Run Frame Decides Finals Of Area Play

Four runs in the fourth inning carried Rotterdam to a 5-2 decision over the Kingston Nationals in the Area 3 finals of the Babe Ruth tournament Saturday in Schenectady.

Pitcher George Dougherty was given a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a home run by shortstop Charles Lay.

In the Rotterdam fourth, Fred Mastroianni knotted the score with a homer over the scoreboard in left center. Bruce Wheeler singled and Dick Tedisco laid down a bunt.

Dougherty wheeled and threw to second. The umpire called the runner safe on a disputed play and this opened the gates.

Ed Pendt singled for a run. After Gary Sullivan walked to load the bases, first baseman Bob Barr singled for the third run of the inning. Pendt was then forced at the plate but Denny O'Brien executed a squeeze play to bring in the fourth run.

Frank Califano tagged Dougherty for a sixth inning home run, upping the margin to 5-1.

A Final Effort
The locals had a last ditch effort in the seventh. With one out, Pete Watzka singled and John Watzka was plunked by a pitch. Chip Grover singled for a run but the rally fizzled and the side was retired without further scoring.

Play in the Babe Ruth league will resume tonight with the VFW opposing Hurley at Dietz Stadium and the K of C playing the K.P.A. at the Athletic Field.

Two World Marks Set in Coliseum; Women Nipped

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—With two world records headed for the books, along with three American marks, the United States celebrated its most decisive victory and the Russians flew home for extra-intensive training for the Olympics Games.

Such was the wind-up of the sixth dual meet between the USA and USSR, whose track and field aggregations are regarded as the most powerful in the world.

A crowd of 55,924 turned out for the final show Sunday in Memorial Coliseum—50,519 watched Saturday—bringing the two-day total to 106,443.

Win Over-All Title

The final scores: In men's events, the United States 139, Russia 97; in women's events, Russia 59, the United States 48; and over-all, the United States 187, Russia 156. It was the first time the United States won over-all.

The Russians on arrival from Moscow said their team was two months behind the Americans, because of the seasons, and with two months to go before the Tokyo Games, it could appear the Soviets will have a busy time in the immediate weeks ahead.

There were highlights for all and the crowd kept up a noisy rumble of approval each afternoon.

The big roar Sunday went to 27-year-old Jim Grelle for his victory in the 1,500-meter run, and Bob Schul as he and 30-year-old Bill Dellinger ran off with the 5,000 meters.

Two World Marks

The day before the ovations went to 18-year-old Gerry Lindgren after his amazing triumph in the gruelling 10,000, and Fred Hanse, 17-4 in the pole vault, and Dallas Long, 67-10 in the shot put.

The main attraction Sunday was Russia's record holding high jumper, Valery Brumel. But Brumel managed 7-3 1/2 and missed at 7-6 in an attempt to better his mark of 7-5 3/4.

The American records were set by Ira Davis in the triple jump at 53-11, by Leah Ferris of Honolulu in the 800 meters in 2:08.8, and Willye White of Chicago in the broad jump, 21-6 1/2. Miss White placed second at 21-7 1/2 but it was wind aided and would not hold up as a national record.

There were several outstanding firsts for the Americans in this meet:

First victories in the 10,000 meters, Lindgren in 29:17.6; in the triple jump, Davis' 53-11; the 5,000, Schul's 13:50.2; the 3,000-meter steeplechase, by George Young, in 8:42.1.

It was also the finest showing by the women's team since the meet began in 1958.

There were disappointments for the Americans, too. Dyrrol Burleson was unable to run in the 1,500 because of a severe virus attack Sunday morning.

Then Ralph Boston lost in the broad jump, Hal Connolly in the hammer-throw and Randy Matson's third place in the shot put.

Catcher Hal Smith was given his unconditional release Saturday so the Reds could make room for third baseman Chico Ruiz and first baseman Tony Perez.

Four-Run Frame Decides Finals Of Area Play

Four runs in the fourth inning carried Rotterdam to a 5-2 decision over the Kingston Nationals in the Area 3 finals of the Babe Ruth tournament Saturday in Schenectady.

Pitcher George Dougherty was given a 1-0 lead in the second inning on a home run by shortstop Charles Lay.

In the Rotterdam fourth, Fred Mastroianni knotted the score with a homer over the scoreboard in left center. Bruce Wheeler singled and Dick Tedisco laid down a bunt.

Dougherty wheeled and threw to second. The umpire called the runner safe on a disputed play and this opened the gates.

Ed Pendt singled for a run. After Gary Sullivan walked to load the bases, first baseman Bob Barr singled for the third run of the inning. Pendt was then forced at the plate but Denny O'Brien executed a squeeze play to bring in the fourth run.

Frank Califano tagged Dougherty for a sixth inning home run, upping the margin to 5-1.

A Final Effort

The locals had a last ditch effort in the seventh. With one out, Pete Watzka singled and John Watzka was plunked by a pitch. Chip Grover singled for a run but the rally fizzled and the side was retired without further scoring.

Play in the Babe Ruth league will resume tonight with the VFW opposing Hurley at Dietz Stadium and the K of C playing the K.P.A. at the Athletic Field.

Only Scattered Showers Promised For Dried Farms

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Weather Bureau today promised only scattered showers this week for New York's drought-plagued farmers.

The long-range forecast, which extends into Sunday morning, anticipated little change in the weather pattern of the past few weeks—warm, summery days, punctuated by occasional showers.

There was still no sign of the prolonged, drenching rains needed to break the drought began in May.
For the eastern part of the state, the hardest hit by the drought, scattered showers were likely Wednesday and again by next weekend. Showers are expected daily, from Tuesday, through Saturday night, in the western sector.

Champ Balloonist Dies as Gondola Hits Power Line

PITTSBURGH, Calif. (AP)—A champion balloonist was killed Sunday when his gondola drifted into high-tension wires and exploded in a white flash of fire.

Richard Pollard, 19, of Denver, was competing in a four-balloon benefit race to raise funds for a recreation center for the handicapped at nearby Clayton. He was the national hot air balloon champion.

The race had been scheduled originally for last Saturday in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, but it was canceled by Police Chief Thomas Cahill as "too hazardous."
Pollard had difficulty with his balloon when the race started at Clayton, a less populous area. A crowd of more than 3,000 watched as he left 10 minutes behind the others because of last-minute repairs.

Russ Reed, a photographer for the Oakland Tribune, watched from a small airplane as Pollard's balloon headed toward the 150,000-volt wires.
"He missed one, then another," said Reed. "But he hit a third. Then this huge white flash went up."
"The pilot's body dropped straight down about 50 feet and lay motionless."
"We saw a motorcycle cop drive up, take one look at the body and drive away," Reed said.

Four Speeders Fined

Four drivers charged with speeding were fined $15 each in city court today. They were: Arthur Daley, Route 3, Box 196, Saugerties; Margaret Vost, 32 Pine Street; Barbara Prochaska, Olive Bridge, and Grace Lanezzo, 15 Manor Lane, Saugerties. Chester Knox, of 26 Post Street, charged with driving an uninsured vehicle, and lacking a registration certificate, paid a $5 fine on the former and hearing on the other charge was put over to July 29. Louis DeBlase, of Box 24, Kingston, charged with driving without an operator's license, was fined $15.

Reporter Finds Peace Restored After 2-Day Riot

(Editors: Associated Press writer Marvin R. Pike donned a hard helmet and climbed into a police cruiser for a look at Rochester 48 hours after riots broke out. He tells here what he found and the reactions of some weary policemen.)

By MARVIN R. PIKE
Associated Press Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — This was a changed city in today's early morning hours. It was quiet, with the stillness you would find on a normal Monday in the hours before dawn.

But not so the pre-dawn hours of the two previous days, when thousands of Negroes battled police — with stones, bottles, cans and other missiles.

In the few hours after midnight that I cruised the city's trouble spots — two neighborhoods where rioting erupted — my three police escorts and I could find nothing stirring.

Private automobiles were a rarity.

People finally were obeying the 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew imposed Saturday.

Police Are Tired

Negro drivers of the three cars I saw halted by police had reasons for being on the street that satisfied the tired but alert officers.

One driver said he was taking his wife to work at a hospital. Another claimed he was on his way home from work. The third had just driven in from Buffalo, aware of the curfew, but certain he would be allowed to go home.

All were waved through.
At Joseph and Kelly Avenues, scene of Friday night's tumult, one policeman asked a state trooper if a convoy of National Guardsmen had passed there a few hours earlier.
"They sure did," the trooper replied. "Maybe that's the reason everything's so quiet tonight."

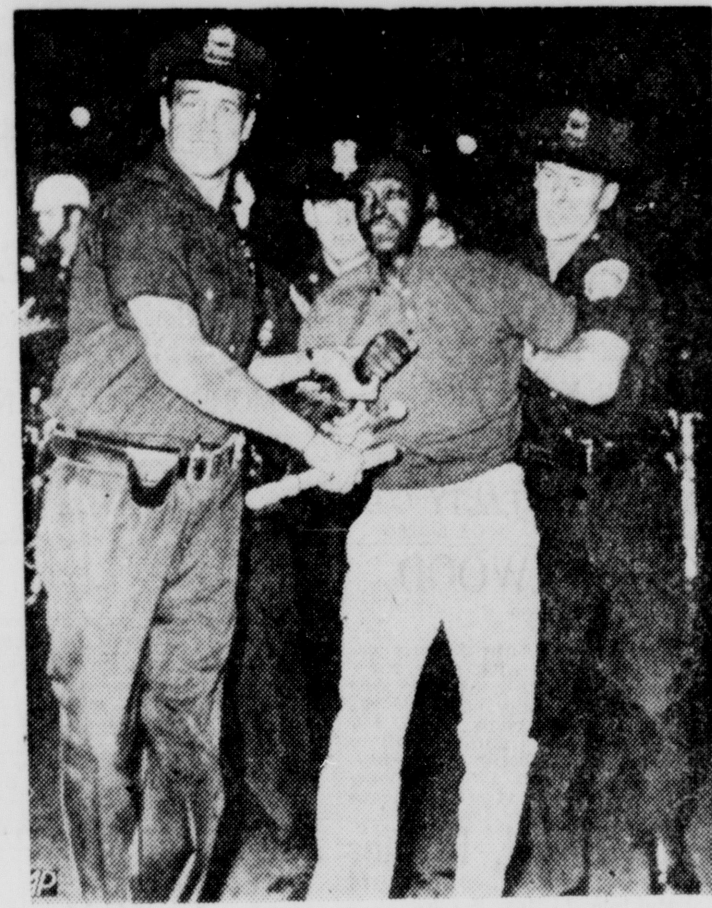

Rioters Tired Too

Another trooper suggested that perhaps the rioting Negroes were worn out and decided to get a night's sleep.

The bulk of the 1,000 guardsmen, ordered into this city by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to assist state and local law enforcement officers, already had arrived. They were on a standby basis, not yet summoned to riot duty.

Nearly 200 of the guardsmen were loaded into trucks and driven through the east and west side sections where the rioting flared. They carried bayoneted rifles and carbines but no ammunition on their show-of-strength tour.

ally handicapped persons residing in its service area. Programs of social casework and psychological counseling, group work and recreation, mobility training, on-the-job placement and industrial shop training and the sales program which markets the goods produced in the shops are included in the overall services of the A. Ghoul Puts Body Of Girl in Alley, Slashed, Naked

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP)—Police searched today for a night-roaming ghoul who stole the body of a 14-year-old girl from its casket, then abandoned it slashed and naked in an alley.
The body of Theresa Koertgen was taken Saturday night from a Skokie funeral home by an intruder who broke in through a window.

Some 20 hours later, an Evanston motorist nearing his garage in the early hours saw the body in the alley behind his home.

Later Sunday, a long-sleeved yellow dress believed to be the one in which the girl had been laid out for burial was found in an alley on the north side of Chicago.

Capt. Edward Caulfield, head of the Skokie police force, described the crime, technically only a burglary, as "unbelievable in this day and age." The theft and mutilation of the corpse pointed to a demented man, he said.

Police questioned and cleared two men, one a 16-year-old acquaintance of the girl and the other a man seen loitering around the funeral parlor.

Theresa was the daughter of Leo Koertgen, an auto sales firm executive. She lived with her mother, Margaret, who was divorced from her father.

The girl died Wednesday in Skokie Valley Community Hospital after collapsing Tuesday in a Skokie swimming pool. An autopsy showed she died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Firemen Battle 4 Blazes in County

Volunteer fire fighters battled four area fires over the weekend, according to Ulster County Mutual Aid.

Phoenicia and Shandaken responded to a bungalow fire about 11 p. m. Sunday at Camp Timberlake.

Spring Lake volunteers battled a grass fire from 11:30 a. m. to noon Sunday near the Thruway.

Two companies from Shawangunk and Wallkill volunteers responded to the third alarm about 2:20 p. m. Saturday at the Smith Machine Shop, Wallkill. They returned to service at 5:42 p. m.

Modena was called to a dump fire about 6 p. m. Saturday.

Charged With Arson

A Dutchess County man was arrested on a first-degree arson charge in connection with a fire Saturday night at King's Tavern in the village of Pine Plains in that county. Robert Place, 49, of America, posted $1,500 bail for a hearing July 28 in peace justice court, Town of Washington. Investigators Joseph Waters and John Conway charged Place with setting the fire. The charge is a felony.

Golf Items Stolen

Jerry Vousik, of Box 682, Glasco, notified local police this morning that a golf cart and bag with clubs, valued at $150 were stolen from his car while it was parked in the lot near the Municipal Auditorium.

Castro's Estimate Of OAS Reported As Just Garbage

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro called the Organization of American States "garbage" Sunday night for imposing diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba.

Speaking on the 11th anniversary of his 26th of July revolution movement, the prime minister told 150,000 cheering persons at Oriente University, the OAS has no right to judge Cuba. The sanctions are "impudent and unjust," he said.

"If the pirate attacks made from the United States and countries of the Caribbean do not cease...the people of Cuba consider themselves with equal right to help...the revolutionary movements of other countries," Castro said in a "Declaration of Santiago de Cuba."

Attacking the OAS as "garbage," Castro said Cuba rejects as "insolent" the OAS warning that if the Castro regime persists in carrying out acts of aggression and intervention against one or more OAS members, they may, singly or as a group, use armed force against Cuba.

Ghoul Puts Body Of Girl In Alley, Slashed, Naked

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP)—Police searched today for a night-roaming ghoul who stole the body of a 14-year-old girl from its casket, then abandoned it slashed and naked in an alley. Castro's Estimate Of OAS Reported As Just Garbage

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro called the Organization of American States "garbage" Sunday night for imposing diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba.

Speaking on the 11th anniversary of his 26th of July revolution movement, the prime minister told 150,000 cheering persons at Oriente University, the OAS has no right to judge Cuba. The sanctions are "impudent and unjust," he said.

"If the pirate attacks made from the United States and countries of the Caribbean do not cease...the people of Cuba consider themselves with equal right to help...the revolutionary movements of other countries," Castro said in a "Declaration of Santiago de Cuba."

Attacking the OAS as "garbage," Castro said Cuba rejects as "insolent" the OAS warning that if the Castro regime persists in carrying out acts of aggression and intervention against one or more OAS members, they may, singly or as a group, use armed force against Cuba.
